SECTION III: NARRATIVE

BILL SUMMARY

Synopsis:

HB133 seeks to amend Section 22-10A-19.1 NMSA to require professional development for career-technical teachers and educational assistants in the same manner as teachers of other subjects for which the PED has promulgated standards and benchmarks. In addition HB133 would require the use of Title II funding through ESSA for career-technical professional development.

FISCAL IMPLICATIONS

HB133 would require the PED to develop guidelines integrating career technical education into academic instructional practices as well as guidelines for funding rigorous professional development for career-technical teachers and educational assistants. Development of these guidelines would require time from PED employees yet no funding is allocated for this position.

SIGNIFICANT ISSUES

HB133 singles out career-technical education teachers from all other licensed teachers in regards to professional development opportunities. The section of the NMSA that HB 133 seeks to amend already takes into account all teachers and educational assistants licensed through the department and therefore an amendment to specifically support career-technical educators is not needed.

HB133 also requires districts to use Title II funding to support professional development for career-technical educators; by enacting this language districts may think they are required to prioritize Title II funds to this specific group of teachers when the funds may be more impactful if spent in another manner.

PERFORMANCE IMPLICATIONS

Professional development opportunities have varying levels of impact on performance. There are no provisions for ensuring the training is impactful in HB133.

TECHNICAL ISSUES

HB133 on page 3, subsection B.2.e, lines 2 and 3 asks that “organizations with specific subject-area expertise or professional development” be included in the development and evaluation of the professional development activities a district chooses. This may be a conflict of interest as these third party vendors may be the same vendors providing services to districts.
