

Rules of Procedure Discussion

Comments from Commissioners

What do we do for a tie vote that is not dealign with the election of officers?

1. On recusal...I think somehow someone should ask either aft the beginning o the meeting...assuming everyone read their agenda and what was being covered....or before we discuss controversial items.

I would assume that would have to do with schools....but it might not...

And I think the person could go to the back of the room or out....because s/he could read the minutes later and know what was said...so hearing it in real time seems not to be different to me...

2. What does VE 1 mean... Per STATUTE.... I would then think that is 6 but perhaps we need to say that clearly. I get if we have 9 then 5 is the majority vote....but again if there are 8 it could be a 4-4 split.

Also, when we review the PED Rules of Commission, I would like to review the entire booklet particularly addressing section II B and C; section IV and section V G and L.

The only change recommendation I make is in Section V .L-1.a. Here I believe the commission must determine what a commissioner must do when recusing himself or herself from voting on any matter.
