 Subject: Letter of Collaboration

Collaboration meetings have occurred between New Mexico State University (NMSU), College of Education and Raíces Del Saber (Roots of Knowing) Xinachtli Community School Project/Charter School to discuss partnerships to expand training of educators who serve the Children and Families at Raíces Del Saber. Collaborations for professional development and grant opportunities also were discussed within the meetings that occurred. The support of the College of Education at New Mexico State University serves to enhance the quality of services that Raíces Del Saber is able to provide to the community that we serve. Recognizing the importance of implementing the most current best practices for delivering curriculum and engaging with children and their families is vital to the success of dual language children and families.
