And so several times 5 5 COMMISSIONER ARMBRUSTER: Commissioner I've been in here, and we have talked about that and 6 Ruiz? 6 been very frustrated by that. 7 As I reported the last time I was here, COMMISSIONER RUIZ: Yes. 7 8 8 COMMISSIONER ARMBRUSTER: Commissioner the Perkins Reauthorization, while it did not change 9 9 those rules about those floors of 15,000 for Crone just disappeared. 10 10 Commissioner Raftery? districts and 50,000 for community colleges, it did 11 COMMISSIONER RAFTERY: Yes. 11 open up some additional avenues for us to -- to 12 12 COMMISSIONER ARMBRUSTER: Commissioner build some different structure. And so what I 13 13 wanted to talk to you guys about today is the -- the Gipson? 14 THE CHAIR: Yes. 14 structure that we have proposed to the Department of 15 15 Education, specifically that makes room for charter COMMISSIONER ARMBRUSTER: Commissioner 16 16 schools to participate. Chavez? 17 So what we've proposed to the Department 17 COMMISSIONER CHAVEZ: Yes. 18 of Education is that all schools, all districts, 18 COMMISSIONER ARMBRUSTER: Commissioner 19 Davis? 19 secondary and post-secondary, that want CTE funding 20 20 will do so through a consortia. And there will be a COMMISSIONER DAVIS: Yes. 21 lead applicant for the consortia that is a business. 21 COMMISSIONER ARMBRUSTER: Commissioner 22 It's either going to be something like Presbyterian 22 Armbruster votes "Yes." 23 Hospital, or it's going to be a consortia itself. 23 Commissioner Voigt? 24 24 COMMISSIONER VOIGT: Yes. For example, we have the STEM-NM 25 initiative, which is a partnership of the Labs and 25 THE CHAIR: Okay. Page 11 Page 13 1 COMMISSIONER ARMBRUSTER: So we have 1 the Air Force Research Lab that's based at Kirtland. That would be a lead applicant. Thank you. 4 participate will do so in partnership with the lead 5 We are on to Item No. 6 which is the -- a 5 business applicant. 6 Discussion and Update on Career-Technical Education. 6 We have asked for a waiver from the 7 So Dr. Perea asked for time today so that 7 Department of Education to completely waive the 8 she could offer us an update on this. 8 15,000/50,000 floors. Our intention is for any 9 9 school that wants to participate to be eligible for Oh, it is. It's Item No. 5. Thank you. 10 10 CTE funding. That is what we have proposed to the DR. ELAINE PEREA: Good morning. Thank 11 feds, and I anticipate will be approved. That opens 11 you for having me to everybody on the Commission and 12 12 Chairwoman Gipson. I've presented to this council up CTE funding for charters. 13 several times. Some of you are new, though, and 13 That being said, it -- CTE funding, we are 14 14 maybe haven't heard about CTE very much. putting some -- some bumpers on it. So in the past, 15 15 a large district could propose funding for anything So just to make sure we have a very basic 16 16 understanding, career-technical education is the that they thought was reasonable. 17 17 component of high school education and And I'll apologize in advance to anyone 18 18 who is a beautician. But cosmetology is one such post-secondary education that -- that offers 19 19 example of a program that is expensive to run that training in real skills that are needed by workforce 20 20 requires a license that is -- meets the parameters in order to get students quickly employed. That's 21 of career-technical education from that perspective; 21 kind of the basic mission of what we're doing in 22 but, in fact, it does not meet the most basic 22 23 23 threshold of the Perkins V requirements, which is For as long as anyone can remember in 24 high-wage. 24 New Mexico, CTE has been funded only by federal 25 funds through the Carl B. Perkins Technical So going forward, Perkins funds will not be available for cosmetology programs, not big cosmetology programs, not little cosmetology programs, and only programs that are high-skill, high-wage, in-demand. Those are the three requirements: high-skill, high-wage, in-demand, as determined by labor market information published by our Department of Workforce Solutions and as determined by industry. That's what gets funded.

And so if there isn't a -- a compelling labor market argument for program of study, it will not be eligible for CTE funding.

It's not up to me to say whether it's valuable or not valuable for students. But it's not going to be eligible for CTE funding. So I'll take a really out-there example. Let's talk about marching band.

Marching band is a great program. I was a band geek; I loved marching band.

Somebody might want to come up and say -- a charter -- might say, "Well, we don't have marching band; but we want to have guitar, and we're going to have a guitar teacher come, and we want to use CTE funds for that."

Well, the labor market information in New Mexico wouldn't support that as a career.

for film, fashion for film, okay, and very important, construction for film. All of those are high-need areas that absolutely fall within the CTE realm.

Basic fashion design, not fundable.

COMMISSIONER VOIGT: Excuse me. For clarification, all of those film-related craft skills are considered below the line. And so that would be a below-the-line occupation within the film industry. That's basically considered crew.

So they would fall under that crew -- even the IATSE union folks that -- enter that umbrella probably before it would cosmetology; so that beautician might have the cosmetology degree. But she could -- that student could bring it under a film pathway.

DR. ELAINE PEREA: Yeah. And so going back to what I said about applying through a consortia, when -- film, we've been through contacts we made from Chairwoman Voigt -- I mean Commissioner. Thank you.

The union in Albuquerque, the film union, has been giving us great direction and -- in terms of what we should and shouldn't be funding.

The -- they have given us very clear

Page 15

So I'm not saying anything about band. I'm not saying anything about guitar. But I'm saying that it doesn't fit in the parameters of CTE education, okay, just to be really clear about that.

And to go back to my cosmetology example, someone may still want to have a cosmetology program; but it's not fundable by CTE. Because in particular, in our state right now, there's three cosmetologists for every job. So it doesn't meet in-demand, and it doesn't meet high-wage.

THE CHAIR: So let me just ask you, because [unintelligible] was introduced to me. That's okay.

If someone wanted to craft that around, like, the film industry and say that -- and get the cosmetology hair and makeup through the film industry, then they could meld those together.

DR. ELAINE PEREA: Absolutely. In fact, we're working with CEC right now in Albuquerque to help them build their cosmetology program into a film makeup program.

high-demand area in our state. It's one of the Governor's priorities, priority sector. So film, absolutely. And that includes -- so hair and makeup

So, absolutely. Film is a high -- it is a indication that post-production film editing, which students love, is not a New Mexico career that we should be pursuing. And so as much as kids love it, in terms of CTE programs that are fundable, we need to be focusing on pre-production and production and not on post-production, because they have been super, super clear that those jobs are staying in LA.

COMMISSIONER VOIGT: I know. It's unfortunate.

DR. ELAINE PEREA: And whether we like it or not, we need to be focusing on places where we can grow our economy. And if pre-production and production are where we can grow our economy, well, let's help kids be ready for those jobs; because if we make them ready for post-production jobs, we're preparing students to have to move out of state.

THE CHAIR: Commissioner Crone?
COMMISSIONER CRONE: So there's a program -- excuse me -- at Northern. Does it receive Perkins funding?

DR. ELAINE PEREA: Yes, sir. We fund Perkins for Northern.

COMMISSIONER CRONE: Okay. DR. ELAINE PEREA: As well as the feeder

Page 18 1 schools, Española, Taos, Peñasco, and Los Alamos 1 of study. And we're interpreting that to mean that 2 2 have been in and out. I expect that will be in with a fundable STEM program of study will have a student 3 3 organization attached to it, so that students get the reduced -- by taking that 15,000 floor away, I 4 think we'll see both of them participating as well. 4 the leadership and presentation skills and the team 5 5 THE CHAIR: So what's the start date building skills that are part of student 6 6 organizations. That's how we're marrying all those for -- is this going --7 7 DR. ELAINE PEREA: So we're in a obligations. 8 8 transition year. We have not yet released an application. 9 9 THE CHAIR: Okay. We are still working on a lot of details. But that 10 10 DR. ELAINE PEREA: So '19-'20 is a will be coming out -- as I said, our target is first 11 transition year. Applications for '19-'20 are using 11 of June. It's coming like a fast freight train. I 12 12 don't know if I'll actually get there. the old rules. So the 15,000 floor still applies. 13 13 But we will be releasing, rolling out an THE CHAIR: Okay. 14 14 DR. ELAINE PEREA: But '20-'21 is where application as quickly as we can that will provide 15 15 for new funding with no floor for new STEM programs the new rules will come into effect. I want to, 16 16 very quickly, tell you one other piece that's really of study. 17 17 THE CHAIR: So let me ask you. Is there important. If you were paying attention during 18 Legislative Session, you might have heard that there 18 the requirement that that -- that this money has to 19 19 is State CTE funding for the first time. funnel through a business, like the -- the '20-'21 20 THE CHAIR: Right. Right. 20 program? Or no? 21 21 DR. ELAINE PEREA: This is a huge deal; DR. ELAINE PEREA: No. We're going to 22 22 make a requirement that you have to have a business really, really important for our state. We got 23 23 partner. $3 million in recurring funds and $2 million in 24 24 one-time funds for CTE. That will start in July. THE CHAIR: You have to have the business 25 My team is very, very busy developing an 25 partner, that's what I meant. So that's still Page 19 Page 21 1 1 application process right now that will hopefully be there. 2 2 DR. ELAINE PEREA: We're not actually -in place by June so that we can get that funding out 3 3 to the field as quickly as possible. so for summer of '20, we expect that the lead 4 It will look very similar to what I just 4 applicant will be business. But for summer of '19, 5 5 described that is going to be the Perkins plan going we're just going to ask that you've identified a 6 6 forward. We didn't want to have two different sets local business partner. 7 7 THE CHAIR: Okay. of rules out there. 8 8 We think that the Perkins parameters that COMMISSIONER VOIGT: Madam Chair? 9 we've proposed in our transition plan are best 9 THE CHAIR: Yes, Commissioner. 10 10 practice, best practice for the state. We believe COMMISSIONER VOIGT: So I just want to 11 11 that using that state CTE money to push the priority thank Dr. Perea for bringing charter schools into 12 12 sectors, to push high-skill, high-wage, in-demand this mix. Because we know a good portion of the 13 jobs is the right thing for the state. 13 charter schools in New Mexico do have a CTE focus 14 And so the same sorts of things that we 14 already. So thank you very much for bringing them 15 are planning to do for Perkins in '20-'21, we are 15 into this funding. 16 going to be rolling out in advance this summer using 16 DR. ELAINE PEREA: Thank you. 17 17 state CTE funding. COMMISSIONER CHAVEZ: Madam Chair? 18 The state CTE funding through House Bill 18 THE CHAIR: Commissioner? 19 91 specifically is for new programs of study, not 19 COMMISSIONER CHAVEZ: My mic doesn't work. 20 existing programs of study. They have to be STEM, 20 I hope you can hear me. 21 and -- and the -- there's a requirement for 21 For the new State monies, is it focused 22 professional development as part of the -- so the 22 just on high school or higher education? Or will it 23 program-of-study funds can't just buy equipment. 23 also include middle school? 24 There has to be PD involved in that. 24 DR. ELAINE PEREA: So there is a 25 There has to be soft skills in the program 25 middle-school component. Our intention at this

I am in conversations -- I'm really super-excited; I don't know if I'm going make it work yet; but I'll put it out here publicly -- to try to develop a course that would be available for middle schools that would be pre-algebra as career exploration. It would meet all of the pre-algebra core requirements and would also do career exploration of all 16 career clusters.

I think we're going to be able to make that happen with the part of the money that we've set aside for middle schools. But at this point, we don't have enough money to really be looking at rolling down specific training programs into the middle school.

So middle school really needs to be about career exploration, and career exploration not only for students but, actually for faculty as well, because the teachers really are, for the most part, not familiar with the world of work well enough to talk about it with their students.

COMMISSIONER CHAVEZ: So would, for to fund DECA in the high schools and things like that? Or is that not part of --

3 DR. ELAINE PEREA: When I was saying CTOs, 4 DECA is a student organization. Yes, ma'am. We're 5 looking at state funding for the first time actually 6 providing a stipend for those teachers that are 7 running those programs. We are budgeting for that 8 statewide, so that it's not a district-by-district 9 decision; because some districts really support 10 their student advisers -- student organization 11 advisers and some don't.

> We want, at the state level, to say, "We value this. We value the extra work that the teachers are doing, and we think it should be compensated."

COMMISSIONER RAFTERY: Is BPA part of that?

DR. ELAINE PEREA: Yes, ma'am. All the student organizations. There's eight of them in our state. So I'll just go over them so that everyone knows.

22 FFA is the largest. Then DECA. Then 23 after that, I'm not quite sure what the size is. 24 SkillsUSA is probably next. HOSA. BPA. DECA. TSA 25 is -- and who have I left -- FCCLA.

example, Project Lead the Way's Gateway Program focused on middle school and career exploration, would that be a viable program for middle schools to pursue?

DR. ELAINE PEREA: They would probably need to support that through their SEG, not through -- because at this point, I don't anticipate -- unless there's additional funding going into the next year, at $3 million, I don't expect that we can have enough impact to actually pay for a specific program like Project Lead the Way at the middle-school level.

COMMISSIONER CHAVEZ: Thank you.

THE CHAIR: Okay. Thank you.

COMMISSIONER ARMBRUSTER: What is an IGA?

16 DR. ELAINE PEREA: IGA is an > intergovernmental agreement. It's a jargony way of saying a contract. Sorry.

COMMISSIONER ARMBRUSTER: Oh, okay. It's like the IEPs, the ESLs, the ELLs -- I got it.

DR. ELAINE PEREA: We actually have a, like, a 10-page abbreviation glossary for new 23 employees.

THE CHAIR: Commissioner?

COMMISSIONER RAFTERY: Is it still going

Okay. So -- and each of those has a little bit different focus. Like SkillsUSA is particularly the trades. But one thing that you may be aware of is that film has not been claimed by any 5 of these student organizations in a really -- in a 6 really robust sort of way.

> I just had a conversation with national SkillsUSA last week. And I said, you know, "Come on."

If New Mexico is going to really lean into film, I need a student organization to partner with me and lean into film. Because video editing is not the same as pyrotechnics. And -- and film requires things like pyrotechnics, right? I mean, that's part of production is knowing how --

THE CHAIR: I don't know if we want to be doing pyrotechnics with high school kids.

DR. ELAINE PEREA: I think you do, actually. Talk about engagement. You think you're going to get some high school kids excited in a film career, let them blow stuff up.

COMMISSIONER VOIGT: Were they open to that?

DR. ELAINE PEREA: So they were open to that. But my conversation actually fueled several

But film I think is the one that we need most to have a really authentic student organization that we can partner with.

COMMISSIONER VOIGT: Thanks.

THE CHAIR: Well, thank you. And we're excited about this. Because as you mentioned, there's been a lot of pushback from us and not really you having any control over it. It's more frustration that, you know, we have these schools that have these great programs, and they can't access the money because they're just not large enough.

So this is exciting that there is -there's this opportunity. So I hope that schools do start to reach out and get these business partners so that they're aligning themselves so that they're ready for this for the upcoming year.

DR. ELAINE PEREA: And this year, the state funding will be mostly in support of that.

THE CHAIR: So when you mentioned transportation, so that it would be an appropriate use of money to use for transporting students to? Is that allow -- would that -- is that going to be allowable going forward so that kids had to get to someplace for, you know, training or --

DR. ELAINE PEREA: Perkins has always allowed that use of funds for special populations, which most of our students fall into one or more special populations because low-income is kind of the first one right there; and Hispanic and Native American are two other big ones. Once you've hit those three, you've picked up most CTE participants.

But Perkins V, the new Perkins Act, allows transportation for all CTE students.

And then at the state level, we also recognize that a huge barrier to dual credit is -is transportation. So they'll be evaluated on a case-by-case basis. That may or may not be the best use of funds. But there will not be an outright prohibition.

THE CHAIR: Right. And I guess -- I'm sorry. I guess it's going to be a little bit of a -- a learning curve; because so many of our charters haven't been able to avail themselves of

THE CHAIR: Right. Good.

DR. ELAINE PEREA: We're too late in the season for new classes to start, right? I don't anticipate any of that money is going to be going toward a class that starts in August.

THE CHAIR: Right.

DR. ELAINE PEREA: Right? I don't have my application up yet. I expect that money -- the state money will be toward that, toward building capacity and getting teachers skilled-up, recruiting. In some cases that may be what's necessary.

If a school wants to launch an IT program and they don't have a computer science teacher, they can and should use the money toward -- you know, toward finding teacher, toward -- you know, there's -- because it's state funds, there's lots of flexibility in ways that we haven't had with federal funds to address transportation needs, to address staffing needs, to address curriculum requirements that maybe are outside of an instructional materials fund.

So we are looking at and excited about being able to support schools in some of the ways that Perkins has not been able to support.

the opportunity, so they're really not familiar that much with the -- with the process, and they've sort of closed off because it's always, "We can't do that because we're not big enough."

So I think the -- you know, there's going to have to be a little bit of a push to get schools to be aware that, you know, yes, this is available, yes, you can do it, and help to navigate the road for that for a while, so that we're -- you know, we're sure that they're part of this.

Commissioner Caballero?

COMMISSIONER CABALLERO: Yes. I'm a little confused as to where does the data come from, the feds or state, in terms of determining high-demand areas within the State of New Mexico?

DR. ELAINE PEREA: Yes, sir. The Department of Workforce Solutions, which is our State Department of Labor, they have a -- a -- a wealth of data. They have statisticians that calculate those data, and they're published on their website. They're updated quarterly.

That's what we call Labor Market Information, LMI. They have a website that's called LASER, which is the -- the public-facing data exploration page that my team uses and that my team

Page 30 1 coaches schools to use to justify their -- their 1 trades would then be aligned with ABC, because 2 2 assertions. the -- that association is better able to say what 3 3 And then every state is allowed to define students need to know than I am. 4 high-wage differently. We've defined high-wage as 4 THE CHAIR: Commissioner? 5 5 three -- let's see if I get this right -- twice --COMMISSIONER CRONE: This is not directly 6 twice the poverty level for a family of three, at --6 related to charters. But Northern is getting back 7 7 which -- it's just a way of us linking to the into the CTE business. Harry Rommel at the Higher 8 8 Ed Department found a way where a constitution poverty data, which is a national number. 9 9 In our state right now, that calculation school, like Northern, can actually tap into the tax 10 10 comes up to about $36,800. The median salary in base, which has always been unavailable, through 11 New Mexico is about $42,000. So -- so at 36, we're 11 partnering with local school districts. 12 12 still below the median salary, but we're well above Now, this will require an election. 13 Because it is a mill levy. So the three districts 13 minimum wage. 14 14 And the reason that we link that high wage right now are Española, Pojoaque, and Mesa Vista; 15 15 although we could do pretty much all of Rio Arriba to a family of three is because we often talk about 16 County and possibly part of Taos and other counties. 16 family sustaining wages. And at 36, we believe that 17 They are partnering with the Plumbers and 17 a family can afford the necessities of life. They 18 18 Pipefitters. And so pretty much every plumber in can afford a car payment and a mortgage and to take 19 19 care of themselves and their children effectively. the state could eventually be taking courses at 20 20 Northern. So that's how we've defined high-wage. 21 And then, of course, the rest of their 21 As the poverty level moves nationally, our 22 22 training would be at particular job sites through number will move with it. 23 23 COMMISSIONER VOIGT: Madam Chair? Just to the Plumbers and Pipefitters. 24 24 The other program is electricity. And I'm clarify about the transportation, when you say 25 not sure the arrangement there. But it will also 25 there's funding for transportation, I don't think it Page 31 Page 33 1 1 necessarily means renting a bus. It could be revive the El Rito campus. ELAINE PEREA: Yes. 4 solar array at the El Rito campus. 5 5 COMMISSIONER VOIGT: Okay. Thank you. In terms of the transportation, they're 6 6 DR. ELAINE PEREA: And it does have to be going to partner with the school districts to bring 7 7 specifically around CTE. So you can't use CTE to students to campus. 8 8 provide for your charter pickup in the morning or When I started at UNM-Northern branch back 9 for the whole charter school. It's about CTE. 9 in the '70s, there was actually a bus system 10 10 So it's more about an internship to a work throughout the north to shuttle students to the --11 11 the El Rito campus first, and then later, the site or dual credit to your partner, post-secondary. 12 12 That's the sort of transportation needs that we're Española campus. 13 looking at addressing. That's part of why we're pushing for the 22 22 partnerships, is we are expecting that, like the --Thanks. And once again, thank you so 23 23 much, because this is exciting for what schools are Associated Builders and Contractors, ABC, down in 24 24 going to be able to do. And I hope we also partner Albuquerque, I expect them to be a lead applicant 25 25 for the trades. And so schools that are offering with that in making sure that, you know, we're reaching out to as many schools as we can so that they're making use of this, because it is, it's important.

DR. ELAINE PEREA: Yes. Thank you so much. Thank you all for your time. And please feel free to reach out to me anytime if you have a question. I'm happy to talk at more length about this topic to anyone who wants to talk about it, anyone who will listen. Thank you.

MS. KAREN WOERNER: To anyone who will listen?

THE CHAIR: We are on to Item No. 6, and that's the report from Options for Parents and Charter School Division.

MR. ALAN BRAUER: Madam Chair, members of the Commission, thank you for this time, and thank you for having us today.

I wanted to just share that my -- my discussion notes will start with celebrations and acknowledgments and end with celebrations and acknowledgments. So this is going to be a celebration sandwich for us today.

I, first and foremost, want to celebrate the Public Education Commission and Ms. Jaeger and our staff for all our work and doing a full baker's of those constituents.

I also want to share gratitude to Karen, Dylan, and Megan for the ongoing support of our schools and their most recent site visits. I think they've done some important work in supporting and celebrating our schools in ensuring that they're meeting their visions for students and providing technical assistance where our schools need it.

Most recently, they -- they trekked from -- from -- ranging from Albuquerque to Walatowa and Jemez Pueblo, went out to Shiprock, down to Gallup, and then across the -- not across the border -- but right to the border for DEAP in Navajo, New Mexico.

And this was all in the same week that we were doing contract negotiations at the end. So I just have a lot of gratitude for them. And I know that drive very, very well from the last 12 years or so in my life. And I know that it -- there's a lot of time away from family. And I just want to acknowledge that and celebrate that one.

I also want to celebrate Leslie Kelly for her ongoing efforts in supporting the creation of the financial framework with Chairwoman and I and for doing the legwork in submitting crucial

This was my first time on this side of the negotiation process, and I am -- I am really thankful personally and professionally for the learning that I've been able to take from you all. And I just wanted to share my admiration for everyone involved in that and the amount of time and effort and smart thinking that went into truly building partnership with that school. So thank you very much all around.

I also wanted to take -- take some time to show some thanks for the CSD staff. Especially at this time of the year as we close out one fiscal year and start to really ramp up for the next fiscal year, there's just a lot of work that everyone is really involved in. And I just wanted to pause and reflect and share some key -- key areas of celebration and thankfulness.

First, I wanted to thank Dolores and Melissa for all their work with regard to the ongoing trainings, both for our current to implementation five-year schools governing council members, as well as our charter -- our aspiring charter applicants. They have done just an amazing amount of work across the state in support of each accessibility and equity so that more of our schools can benefit from this grant. So thank you to Leslie.

Page 37 amendments to our CSP grant so we create more

Our business manager, Debbie, has been working relentlessly over the last few weeks. That's going to continue as we close out the Fiscal Year '19 and start out Fiscal Year '20, to truly support the closeout and to get us, like, a really strong jump-start on the upcoming year.

I'm also personally grateful for her continued teaching that she's given to me as I learn about state budgets and state processes and financial systems. And so I just wanted to acknowledge her today.

Finally, I wanted to acknowledge Karen and Megan for the incredible work and the contract negotiations. I think both staffers have traveled across the state alongside the Public Education Commission for the last week or so and have provided some critical support and assistance so that our schools and our Public Education Commission can really do the important and hard work and having some negotiations. So thanks to each and every one of you for that.

Staff hires. I'm pleased to announce that Megan Maestas has officially begun her work as the authorizing practices head administrator. We're super excited for that. A well deserved promotion. In other good news, we have made a -- an offer and the offer has been accepted by Carolyn Bayne, who will be joining us starting on Monday as our new executive assistant to the Charter School Division. So we're really excited about that. I think Dolores is probably particularly excited so that she can move into just one position on our technical assistance team.

I'll move along to some training updates. The last implementation year training was April 19th for our two schools who are in the process of commencing operations.

The last new applicant training is scheduled for this Monday, May 13th, here in Mabry Hall, I believe -- oh, it's in Albuquerque. Thank you, Melissa.

And then I also wanted to share that training that Melissa and Dolores are working on for governing councils. We are, where possible, creating online versions of certain trainings where rule and statute allow us to do that. And I'm

MR. ALAN BRAUER: Thank you, Commissioner. COMMISSIONER VOIGT: Sure.

12 MR. ALAN BRAUER: Yeah. It's -- sorry if 13 I missed that, Commissioner. But it's on Louisiana 14 and Comanche is the cross-section.

> And so our plan is to send out registration information and save-the-date and a request for presenters starting next week, as soon as we have the interim paperwork completed for that.

THE CHAIR: Okay. So let me just ask you, for those of us that travel in. Are -- when you say Thursday, the 20th, is the anticipation that it's going to start first thing Thursday morning, or Thursday afternoon into Friday?

MR. ALAN BRAUER: Madam Chair, we're going -- the definitive plan is to start at 11:00 really thankful for the work in making that happen, as I know that many governing council members are appreciative of those opportunities, too.

I wanted to share a quick update on the charter school conference. I think, last meeting in April, I shared a tentative schedule -- or date. And I wanted to share a new and improved definitive schedule.

We are in the process of -- and this is where Debbie has really helped me understand the ins and outs about creating intergovernmental agreements and processes to -- to create this charter school conference.

And so we're in the process of that. But we're tentatively scheduled to have the charter school conference in alignment to when it was last year, which is Thursday, June 20th, and Friday, June 21st. And it'll be in Albuquerque, most likely at the Berna Facio Training Center, which is the new training center that APS has -- has built over the last year.

THE CHAIR: Is that -- I'm sorry. Is that the one that you used, Matt?

MR. MATT PAHL: No. We used Rankin. This is the Montgomery -- with registration and then start with lunch. And then after the lunch hour, that's when the actual preliminary discussion with our PED leadership will start.

And so, yeah, we took that feedback from years past. And I think it's great to put in as much as we can for learning, but also ensure that we give as many people as possible who are traveling from across the state to have some time to -- to get to where we want them to be to be fully present.

THE CHAIR: Okay. Thank you.

MR. ALAN BRAUER: School closures. I have a brief update on that.

Anthony Charter School has been completed as of May the 4th. That's when the disbursement of inventory happened, as well as the process to give ownership to the City of Anthony with regard to the -- the portable buildings there.

SAHQ is also in process and has been initiated, and we're hopeful that that is closed out shortly.

THE CHAIR: Thank you.

MR. ALAN BRAUER: Moving on, governing council concerns, we do have one concern for the month, which is regarding Alma d'Arte.

Page 46 COMMISSIONER CRONE: Madam Chair? Wolves, dogs, and coyotes can interbreed. A coyowolf is a very dangerous animal. They attack humans. I had a student who had a wolf hybrid, a female. And one day, she decided that she was going to be the alpha person, and she almost ripped his arm off. He was in the hospital for six weeks. THE CHAIR: I shared with everyone yesterday that my dog makes me answer the door, because he's not -- he's -- he believes in stranger danger. "So go and let me know if it's okay. Then

So it's -- so thank you.

I'll come out."

And I will applaud, once again, anyone who takes seventh-graders on an outward-bound experience, because they're required to do -- I think it's a weeklong prior to school that they go out. So God bless them. I can't imagine. So thank you.

MR. ALAN BRAUER: Madam Chair?
And finally, but definitely not least, we wanted to acknowledge and celebrate South Valley Preparatory School. South Valley Prep's mission is to provide a small, safe, and unique family learning community, where students are prepared for high Charter School, this year.

THE CHAIR: Thanks. And you're absolutely right. It was exciting to walk into that school for that meeting, because those kids were so proud of the building they had. It's sad when a charter closes; but that's the ideal situation, when one closes down and someone else has the opportunity to make use of that property.

And, yeah, that school is just giddy with excitement over having that. And it has made a profound impact for them to be able to move into that new building. So it's -- it's good to see that building was able to stay as a school. So thank you very much.

Could we take just a short break before we move on to the next piece of the agenda?

Thank you.

Let's try to make it, like, 10, if we can. That always melds into 20; but -- you know, I should say 5.

(Recess taken, 9:56 a.m. to 10:15 a.m.)
THE CHAIR: If the record will please reflect that Commissioner Crone is not here. Thank you.

So we are back to Item No. 7, which is a school and beyond.

You know, one of my first official acts of being part of the CSD team was to attend the school leader meeting at South Valley Prep's newer building that they just moved into this year.

And one of the most memorable experiences for me from that day was meeting several of the student leaders and scholars there and engaging with them around their experiences at the school and just hearing how that school has really impacted them as people and as leaders.

One highlight from our most recent visit was that the visits that are -- sorry -- from the visits from earlier in the year, from the first site visit, there are very minor concerns, for lack of a better word. And as a result in partnering with South Valley Prep, the CSD team decided that a full second visit was unnecessary, given the really strong start that the school had in their new facility.

And so that was conducted over -- over a conference call instead of going in and then doing another one at the end of the year.

And so we're really proud of the work that South Valley Prep has done, as well as Aldo Leopold Discussion and Possible Action on the Corrective Action Plan for La Academia Dolores Huerta.

And there are no documents associated with this, because we don't have the Corrective Action Plan completed. We're -- we kept this on the agenda as that Lavyld give Commissioners are yielded as the so that I could give Commissioners an update as to where we are.

Because last month, you remember, we voted to create a Corrective Action Plan for the school. And as we were scheduling the contract negotiations -- and I noted that there might possibly be some free time, and that's not allowed -- I suggested that while everyone was down in Las Cruces, we would be able to have the opportunity to open up the discussion with the school then for the Corrective Action Plan.

So the Thursday afternoon before contract negotiations began, staff -- Charter School Division staff, Commissioner Voigt, Commissioner Armbruster, and myself -- and Counselor Mark Chaiken was there for that discussion. It was -- I think it was a -- I walked out of there thinking it was a relatively productive meeting. I thought we had gotten ourselves to a point of understanding.

It was frustrating at first, because I had sent the school an idea from the Commission. So let's use this as a starting point from us, so that the school would then be able to offer the input on two things; benchmarks, because on the reading and math skills and the WIDA reports from the school, I didn't know what they were. So I wanted them to propose benchmarks for the school as a starting point for our discussion; and anything else the school felt that they thought was appropriate to put into the Corrective Action Plan, any input from them.

They came with nothing. And they came with supposed confusion as to what we were doing there. "We thought you were imposing this. We thought there was no point for discussion."

I don't know what they thought we were going to do for the two hours that we allotted for it; so it took a little bit of time to get through

And then we did have discussion. The school is using a new assessment program, Illuminate. And they were unclear that they would be able to associate a year-and-a-half growth with the data Illuminate provided.

We weren't sure, either, because we didn't it by that time, because Commissioner Voigt,

- 2 Commissioner Armbruster, and myself would be here
- 3 during the next two days. And CSD staff would be
- 4 here, so we would then be able to look at it and
- 5 have a discussion about it and hopefully then be
  - able to offer input back to the school to see where
- 7 we could come to a decision that we wanted to be 8
  - able to vote on this at the June meeting. So,
- 9 therefore, this is how the time line for this 10 communication needed to take place.

I received an e-mail -- and I think Ami was copied on it as well, and, I think, Alan -- were you copied on that e-mail?

MR. ALAN BRAUER: I don't think I was. THE CHAIR: Oh, okay. So it did come from -- you're right. It did come from their counsel. So I received an e-mail at 3:00 saying, "We need more time, and we won't have this until the 20th of May."

So it's very frustrating on my part that we were clear on the time frame that we needed. And the school was -- they were asked, "When do you think you could have this by?"

They were clear that they had that phone call in, and they were clear that they would have know they used Illuminate; so there was no opportunity for anyone on our side to take a look and come with any idea.

So the school had agreed that -- on Thursday, they indicated to us that they had a call scheduled with the Illuminate staff, and they would be able to communicate to them what the information was that they needed so that they would be able to come back to me by Wednesday afternoon at 4:30 with the data they would be able to provide that could hopefully correlate with the one-and-a-half years' growth.

And they were also not sure of their WIDA scores when they came on Thursday, so that they were going to go back, look at their WIDA scores, and then be able to suggest a -- a benchmark for that as

At 3:00, I received an e-mail from their counsel saying --

COMMISSIONER ARMBRUSTER: 3:00? THE CHAIR: 3:00 on Wednesday. COMMISSIONER ARMBRUSTER: Right. THE CHAIR: Because they were supposed to provide it at 4:30 on Wednesday. And the intention was -- and I was clear with them -- that we needed that information and that they would call me by 4:30 on Wednesday.

So it's incredibly frustrating that that didn't happen and that the communication about this has broken down; because I don't -- you know, the path forward for this becomes a little more difficult for us to get this in place for -- for

And the purpose of that June deadline is so that they can work with their staff to be ready for the start of this new school year so that they know what the -- what the plan is and professional development and their Illuminate scores and WIDA, so that -- they can spend that time in preparation for the school year. Because on the school's part, their contention was, "We needed more time."

We're trying to give them that time, but also be ready at the same time. And it's -- it's discouraging.

(Chair confers with Commission counsel). THE CHAIR: Okay. So the Commissioners were copied the filing of the appeal by the school in regards to our Corrective Action Plan. And that was also quite discouraging that -- on one level, it appears that the school doesn't want to have to do a Page 54 1 Corrective Action Plan. 1 original. 2 2 But in their packets, there is the Ami and I spent some time after the 3 3 original response. Corrective Action Plan meeting speaking with their 4 4 MS. And 7 7 discussion that took place about the CAP. then what you were handed this morning came in 8 8 So I thought as a result of that two hours 9 9 that we spent with them, that we were comfortable MR. ALAN BRAUER: Madam Chair. 10 10 with the place we were at, and there was an --THE CHAIR: That's titled updated 11 there -- they indicated that they were going to, in 11 response. 12 12 fact, ask for a dismissal of that. MR. ALAN BRAUER: Apologies, Madam Chair 13 13 and members of the Commission. I wanted to share They then did ask for an extension; but 14 that we do have some staff from the Special 14 the new rule, apparently, that -- part of the 15 15 December rules didn't allow for extensions in this Education Bureau here as well, just in case you need 16 16 case. So -- this morning -- yes? ALAN BRAUER: Madam Chair, members of the Commission, I think if it would be -- if it would be useful and helpful for the conversation, I think it would be best to hear from the Special Ed Department as well as a person from the Language and Culture Bureau. And so if there are other, you know, talking points or areas of discussion that either team would like to share as we get into it, I would defer my time to them. THE CHAIR: Certainly. And we certainly appreciate that. So I don't know if they're prepared or -- I don't know. MS. CHARLENE MARCOTTE: Just come up? Okay. MR. TIMOTHY CRUM: Good morning, Madam Chair. And good morning, Commissioners. THE CHAIR: Good morning. And thank you for taking the time. And if -- I'm going to ask you, if you would, please identify yourself for the record. MR. are more uniform and not individualized. That may be the crux of a concern. It was some findings that we had when we reviewed IEPs some months ago.

And having said that, it has been some months ago since we've reviewed Individual Education Plans for children with disabilities at Alma d'Arte And it should be noted. So we don't know what the current operation is at this time.

So I guess maybe I would ask Charlene just to give maybe a little bit of background from what some of our findings were before to sort of set the pace or to give the body some background information in our concerns, if they, in fact, exist.

THE CHAIR: Certainly.

MS. CHARLENE MARCOTTE: So we asked -when this issue first came up, we asked Alma d'Arte to submit their IEPs, all their IEPs. And myself and my supervisor, we went through them. We reviewed them.

And the first thing that we noticed that was a concern is that all the services for every student, regardless of the disability, regardless of the need, they all looked the same in regard to services. And that cannot be when you have students with varying levels of needs, various disabilities.

    THE CHAIR: Okay. Thanks.
    MR. TIMOTHY CRUM: My name is Timo

MR. TIMOTHY CRUM: My name is Timothy Crum, and I am the Deputy Director of the Special Education Bureau.

MS. CHARLENE MARCOTTE: Good morning. My name is Charlene Marcotte, and I am the education administrator who is assigned for oversight of Alma d'Arte.

THE CHAIR: Okay. I think I'm going to have to ask you to move that mic just a little bit closer to you.

MR. TIMOTHY CRUM: Will do. How's that? We'll get it.

THE CHAIR: So once again, thank you for taking the time out to review this and offer your input. So we're open for anything you wish to -- to add to this discussion.

MR. TIMOTHY CRUM: Thank you, Madam Chairman.

I think I'll open up with just a basic skeleton of what we look at. The IEP -- the "I" in IEP is "Individualized." And it seems to be that there might be a concern that curriculum or services

And that still seems to be how it's being done today.

I know they've given us different iterations of responses, and they've changed names in what they're calling the class now. But it still appears that the model in which they're providing services is the same.

And like Tim said, IEPs are supposed to be individualized based on the students' needs. And that's where the concern still lies is that they're not individualized, and being that they're changing the name what they're calling a certain class. But it still could possibly not be meeting the needs of students.

For example, if they need special ed math, but all they're being offered is this content mastery elective class, how do we know that they're getting special ed math? The same for reading or any other need that a student may have, we're not seeing that that is being provided based on the responses provided and based on those initial IEPs that we saw.

THE CHAIR: Thank you.

MR. TIMOTHY CRUM: Than back to -- if I may, Madam Chairman?

THE CHAIR: Sure.

MR. TIMOTHY CRUM: Back to some of the basic construct and the structures of IEPs, they are very individualized. They are a team approach. So any IEP has to have a team input. And that program, that plan, must be individualized by the team. So it has the autonomy outside of the scope of any kind of curriculum. It's very important to note that it does have that autonomy.

Now, it should be based on the needs and then measurable progress, which you'll see there was a recent Supreme Court decision based on the need to provide measurable progress. That's so that the student achieves graduation ultimately, and if they don't need special education services anymore, that they would be removed from special education.

So those are very -- very fundamental and very important.

And I want to say this as the Deputy Director. I'm not implying that this isn't happening. What I'm saying is I am here to say this is more of laying out the construct of IEPs and the uniqueness of IEPs and the importance of each and every IEP team member.

I'd like to direct you to a point in the

And so that -- that's -- that was a concern. And, again, I don't know the full dynamics of it; but I wanted to bring that up as well.

And then there was the area about content mastery. And that was on Page 4. It was pointed out -- let me see. That's on Page 3, actually. Page 3? Uh-huh. Bottom of Page 3.

That -- I looked at this, and I said,
"...content mastery elective...." Fine. Now, with that would be that in the scope of content mastery and that elective, that there would be a mechanism to provide the individualized services for that student and their particular disability, educational disability. Because there's a difference.

And so if that's there, and there's a mechanism there, then I don't see a fundamental problem; you know, a fundamental problem. The idea is we keep going back to -- Charlene and I -- and we need to, the IDEA B goes there, too -- it goes back to the individual and their needs based on the team's decision to lay out a program and a process with the service time, the needs of the time, severity level, and a number of other factors based around objectives and goals and achieving those things to get them to the next grade, to get them to letter that I read -- and this is the first time I saw the letter was around 9:00 or so. But the letter did say something that concerned me a little bit. And that is that some IEPs aren't being held because of cancellations.

THE CHAIR: Oh. Can you -MR. TIMOTHY CRUM: Sure. I can tell you where it is.

THE CHAIR: So we can look at it?
MR. TIMOTHY CRUM: I think it's on Page 4.
Yeah. "Compensatory services...." So there's something important to note there, that if, in fact, a parent is unable to make it, participate, or in the case of a child being allowed to, depending on where they are and their age, then there is not a reason to cancel the IEP.

And I would like to state why that reason is. It's because students with IEPs, a big part of their achieving the goal of graduating from high school is time. So if a parent can't make it, and, say, they repeatedly can't make it, that doesn't mean that the team can't meet and sort of, like you say, get a quorum and then lay out what's necessary to provide those services. We can't stop the clock for these kiddos.

the next grade, to either exit from special education, and, of course, to raise their hand at the end and graduate from high school.

THE CHAIR: Okay. Thank you. MR. TIMOTHY CRUM: Thank you.

THE CHAIR: Commissioners, do you have any questions at this point in time?

Commissioner Armbruster?

COMMISSIONER ARMBRUSTER: I just want to clarify something. So you're saying that -- I, think, but I'm not sure. That's why I want to clarify. If students are assigned to a content mastery elective class, which would be kind of where you would have only special education students, and you were working on improving their areas of needs -- generally, I would say that's probably language and math -- reading -- ELA and math -- that's okay? Is that what you said? Or not?

MR. TIMOTHY CRUM: Well, thank you for asking the clarifying question, Madam Commissioner. What I am saying is if, in fact, they are in that elective class, those individualized services that are required by the IEP which are autonomous, which are -- they trump anything else. They have that level of authority -- those services need to be

6	COMMISSIONER ARMBRUSTER: So if that	6	COMMISSIONER ARMBRUSTER: And we seem to

9	MR. TIMOTHY CRUM: It could be. It could	9	know that. From what we've seen in the IEPs and

11	COMMISSIONER ARMBRUSTER: So we don't know	11	that's happening.
12	that actually, yet.	12	COMMISSIONER ARMBRUSTER: So that's sort
13	MS. CHARLENE MARCOTTE: It has to be based	13	of what we need to find out.
14	on what the student needs.	14	MR. TIMOTHY CRUM: And, Madam
15	COMMISSIONER ARMBRUSTER: Right.	15	Commissioner, you bring up a really interesting and
16	MS. CHARLENE MARCOTTE: And that's the	16	important point, too, is that ultimately, the
17	concern is that they're trying to put and we	17	goal it's in, like, the first few sentences that
18	can't say for sure. But it appears from what we've	18	you find in the IDEA B, is that the provision of

So that's encouraging to see that kind of language. And that would be a good objective.  COMMISSIONER VOIGT: Madam Chair, I have a question.  THE CHAIR: Commissioner Voigt?  COMMISSIONER VOIGT: Thank you. Beyond the fact that you have received no documentation within an IEP that satisfies the individualized goal planning or services for the students, do you feel that making up compensatory time for services is a best practice, as far as doing conducting the IEP meetings with parents that weren't happening and then trying to go back and pack in the compensatory services for the students? Do you consider that a good practice?  MR. TIMOTHY CRUM: That would not be a good practice. It's a consequence of non-compliance. Simple as that.

the compensatory services according to a timeline is certainly the proper practice after the non-compliance.

COMMISSIONER CABALLERO: Okay. So that's what I was getting at. Not every school is going to be in compliance. So once they're getting into non-compliance, it could be obviously non-compliance, or seems to be that if it's not individualized instruction, and they get there, compensatory -- some plan with timelines that would be acceptable, not only to the rules and the law, but to your Department, so that we know that it's balanced for the student.

And so my understanding, from reading what was presented, is that something was caught. An explanation as to what may have happened. There were people visiting. And now people were added. And now there's an effort to do compensatory services. They may -- that plan may be a good plan or short of what we feel should be a good plan.

But we don't know that yet; right? We still need to get a good handle as to are they doing what they say they're doing and what they should be doing. We still have to determine that.

MS. CHARLENE MARCOTTE: Right. Yes. We

on it. And I read the material. I tried to read as much about what was mentioned.

A lot of it was acronyms, and I had to deal with those. It's a very involved area. It's -- to me, it's very difficult. I would have found it hard to be a teacher doing that. And teaching is not easy to begin with. And this one is -- you have to be very special teacher to get into this.

But it seems to me that the problem is a little bit exacerbated, because we're at the end of the school year, one. Two, if I'm a parent and I have a child, and I now discovered that the child needs compensatory services, as a parent, I'm -- am I going to take the risk, because now I'm teed off and move somewhere else? Or do I feel -- and it's necessary to keep the child, to come back in for the next school year so that we can bring him up to date?

And if -- and if parents do move around -and they do with charter schools -- how should those plans be set up so that that child moves with his plans? And, of course, the new charter school is going to have a good time with that one.

But the idea that I get from you all is haven't seen -- we haven't seen the service logs, because they should be tracking the compensatory services they're providing. We haven't seen service logs or seen what that entails for students yet.

So we haven't asked for it yet, either, to be fair. So that's something that we could request to see if that's being implemented appropriately.

MR. TIMOTHY CRUM: And your points, Mr. Commissioner, are very important, too, because what you have with students with IEPs are students that are always dealing with time, as I mentioned before. So it's a very, very delicate balance to introduce compensatory time; because they already have their standing time.

And so you don't want to overwhelm them. That's a good reason for an IEP team to visit and meet and determine which each individual -- how much they can handle of compensatory and when and how, to introduce that, get to the point where you -- you mitigate all the compensatory, and then you're back on a regular schedule again. So points are well-taken.

COMMISSIONER CABALLERO: Now. I take it -and I'm not familiar as all my Commissioners with this area of education, so I'm trying to get a grasp that it has to be a workable plan, a balanced plan for the child; no matter what, individualized.

MR. TIMOTHY CRUM: That would be correct, Mr. Commissioner.

COMMISSIONER VOIGT: Madam Chair?

THE CHAIR: Commissioner Voigt?

COMMISSIONER VOIGT: Did I hear you just say that you had not received -- or that you had not requested the goals from the school?

THE CHAIR: The service logs.

COMMISSIONER VOIGT: The service logs, the logs; is that right?

MS. CHARLENE MARCOTTE: Yes.

COMMISSIONER VOIGT: So the documentation that you do have from the school, does it -- do they reference in any of their -- in the IEP documents that you have that they did have a team meeting around the student services?

MS. CHARLENE MARCOTTE: They have their signature page from the IEP indicating that the team was present.

COMMISSIONER VOIGT: Okay. Okay. Super. Thanks.

THE CHAIR: Well, before you -- can I just ask just out of the bizarre chance that you have any

Page 74 1 service logs here with you? 1 COMMISSIONER CABALLERO: Somewhere I read 2 2 MS. REBECCA BEIDLER: I did not bring any that the parents have an option to opt out. Is that 3 3 service logs because they were not requested. according to law? Can -- if my child needs a lot of 4 4 help, I can -- because now I'm more concerned about THE CHAIR: That was a super-wish; so I --5 5 I'll let Commissioner Armbruster, then -- I just the emotional well-being, and the child says, "I 6 wanted to check, because then we would be able to 6 don't want to be in special ed, blah, blah, blah, I 7 7 look at it. So I'm good. want to be out," can a parent really pull out the 8 8 COMMISSIONER ARMBRUSTER: I wanted to child, put them in regular class and no more IEP for 9 check on the procedural. Because there are parents, 9 that child, no more special attention, can actually 10 10 for any number of reasons, who cannot come to an IEP come into nothing but "F"s, eventually drop out, can 11 meeting, regardless if you're having it at 7:00 in 11 that happen? 12 the morning or 8:00 at night. That's just life. 12 MS. CHARLENE MARCOTTE: Yes. 13 But I thought you could convene an IEP 13 MR. TIMOTHY CRUM: Yes. 14 meeting -- tell the parent, send out the prior 14 THE CHAIR: All of us -- it is -- and I'll 15 notice and all that kind of thing, have the team 15 express -- and I'm sure everyone else who's been 16 meet, the special ed teacher, an administrator, the 16 there -- it is incredibly frustrating. But, yes, a 17 teacher, blah, blah, and produce an IEP, send 17 parent can opt out of services. And it's --18 it home to the parents with the signature page, ask 18 there's --19 them -- with the return address and stamps and all 19 COMMISSIONER CABALLERO: Wow. 20 that kind of stuff, and they could approve it that 20 THE CHAIR: Yeah. It's -- and 21 way. Is that true? 21 unfortunately, I think we've all 22 Or what would you do, I guess, if that's 22 been-there-done-that. And --23 not okay? What would you do? 23 MS. PATRICIA MATTHEWS: Just as a 24 MS. CHARLENE MARCOTTE: So what we do 24 technicality, if the district so chose, they can go 25 recommend is that LEAs do the best they can to make 25 to hearing and force the IEP; so there is a Page 75 Page 77 1 1 contact with parents and to document their efforts mechanism. 2 in contacting the parent. And if they have at least 2 THE CHAIR: But how often does that --3 three -- I don't know where that came from -- but 3 MS. PATRICIA MATTHEWS: It doesn't: so ... 4 three is what's acceptable -- is that they have 4 THE CHAIR: Yeah. It is. It is. So it's 5 5 sad. Beyond the frustration, it's -- it's sad that three attempts to contact the parent and they're not 6 6 successful, they can go through with the IEP meeting that happens. 7 7 COMMISSIONER ARMBRUSTER: I have one more and make the decisions that are best for that 8 8 student without the parent there, based on the point that I'd like to address. 9 9 So in addition to -- not necessarily documentation that they have that the parent 10 10 instead of, but could be -- of a pullout program, couldn't attend or didn't attend. 11 11 where you're specifically addressing IEP goals And they have all the attempts made to 12 12 contact the parent and invite them to the meeting. that -- because this child may be four years below 13 13 the class; so it's hard to expect a teacher to do And then we do recommend that they do send the IEP 14 14 to the parent to get their signature or input if everything. 15 15 But could you also be fulfilling the IEP there -- I mean, they could still provide input at 16 that point, too. So that is usually the process 16 by providing a service within the regular classroom, 17 17 which I guess we would consider that inclusion, an 18 18 inclusion classroom. You could also be doing a COMMISSIONER ARMBRUSTER: Right. So 19 19 there's some way to update an IEP, certainly not an program or teaching a specific way that -- we'll 20 20 call them regular ed for whatever that -- I'm not initial one, I'll say; but --21 21 defining that word -- but regular ed as well as the MS. CHARLENE MARCOTTE: Yeah, if they 22 22 identified special ed students could all benefit cannot attend in person. 23 23 COMMISSIONER CABALLERO: One more from that program within the regular classroom in an 24 24 question-clarification, please? inclusion setting. Yes? 2.5 25 MS. CHARLENE MARCOTTE: Yes. That would THE CHAIR: Sure, absolutely.

Page 78 1 all be based on the student's need. That would go 1 I have reviewed the EL area of the 2 back to the individualized part. If a student can handle that, and except for an annual notification of program 9 that's the best thing for that student, then, yes, 9 placement. 10 10 definitely, yes. So under Title I, any student -- any EL 11 COMMISSIONER ARMBRUSTER: So it could be 11 student within an EL program, there has to be an 12 12 both, actually. annual notification to parents. 13 13 MS. Because we've revised it several 8 8 THE CHAIR: Thank you. And if I could times, which is great, because as we revise 9 just ask you to hang around for a little bit so that 9 documents, we learn. I wasn't sure if that THE CHAIR: Absolutely. Thanks. I was exactly clear because of the wording. 21 apologize. We don't recognize all the faces. So 21 22 22 when you're out there, I don't know the "Who's Who." Those are the only comments that we would 23 23 MS. COMMISSIONER CABALLERO: Point of

Page 82 clarification, Madam Chair? THE CHAIR: Oh, sure. Absolutely. COMMISSIONER CABALLERO: Somewhere I read in the letters, English sufficiency -- or proficiency -- one of those. And it came to mind, what is that? At what point is that? And does the child play into, "No, I'm not ready for -- to leave help with English"? At what point is that? MS. KIRSI LAINE: Commissioner, so English proficiency is measured in school with the ACCESS for ELLs annual assessment. It's an annual -- it's a statewide assessment from WIDA. So if the student actually earns a composite score of 5.0 or higher, they are considered proficient in English and therefore they would exit the EL program. Of course, like in anything, any student would be taught to the needs that the student has. But for -- when a student is proficient and exits an EL program, you have to, per state regulation, monitor that student for two years to make sure that get provided bilingual ed, I'm kind of not sure whether that lead test is -- is a good measure; because -- in other words, I think that to some extent we need to test those kids in math -- if they're already in seventh or eighth grade, and they're taking advanced math, and it's problem-solving, how good of a grasp do you have, and get tested only in that, and see if they're able to solve it.

I think that -- and the students that were born in El Paso and their parents were primarily English speakers did very, very well with flying colors in that area. And I think some of us did suffer by misinterpreting one word, and the formula went one way, and the reality was another.

And we were very fortunate to have Hispanic math teachers. But not all of them were Hispanic. Once we got to high school, they were all non- -- English speakers.

So that's just -- it stuck in my head, how -- what determines proficiency?

MS. KIRSI LAINE: No. I think that's a really good point. And thank you for bringing it up. That WIDA ACCESS ELL Assessment is actually interesting in that it looks at -- it's measured -- my language is Spanish, primarily, and I had to learn English. And I was really good at math. And so were my friends from Mexico. I mean, we were

It became very, very hard, once we got into the -- the solving problems that were written, and the concepts, we would get confused with how it was laid out. I don't think we had a true grasp of the words and their meanings. And so, consequently, if it weren't for the teachers that were bilingual and would say it in Spanish, we wouldn't get it.

And all of us did very well, only because we had to work as a group. And in U.S. schools, that's not allowed; but it's very prevalent in Mexico. You work as groups. And so we were able to decipher what the question requested, how to solve the -- the problem. And everyone continued, all of us except me and another guy that went somewhere else, that became engineers.

But the English portion was the hardest.
And I think we would have done better in the testing of math, SAT, and all those, had we had a much better grasp.

So I'm not quite sure at what point -- since we weren't tested out or in because we didn't it's linked to our EL standards, which are the standards in all the content areas. So there's the language of math, language of science, social studies, English language arts, and then social instructional language.

And the assessment actually really measures language in those content areas; so whether the student really has mastery of the academic language of the content area. So that includes math. And so as such, it does look at that academic language piece. Before you actually can show proficiency, you would have to have a fair measure of academic language in each of the content areas on there.

And I had another thought. Oh. My other thought was in terms of a student who is coming here and, say, is going to a school -- a high school and is a newcomer, maybe came from Mexico, maybe came from another country. But if the home language is Spanish, we, as a state, do allow that a student take the state assessment in Spanish for the first three years, they can do that. And then that can be waived for two additional years so that they can do the content assessment in -- but it's only if the home language is Spanish. But it doesn't work if

Page 86 1 the student comes from another part of the world 1 THE CHAIR: Well, I'm willing to respond 2 where Spanish is not the home language. 2 to that. And if that had been THE CHAIR: Okay. 16 16 (Approximate entry of indicated in the letter, that it was the parents 17 17 Commissioner Robbins.) that were requesting not to have the meetings -- but 18 MR. TIMOTHY CRUM: So in the context of 18 the letter says, "Oh, we haven't had these meetings 19 the team meeting, yes. If there's something beyond 19 because we can't, I think, get ahold of the parents," or, "The parents aren't coming." 20 the team meeting -- let's say that there was a 20 21 21 hearing. Let's say that there was an alternative There was no indication that it was a --22 22 dispute resolution. Let's say there was something MS. Well -- but that 25 I'm speaking in the context of an IEP team 25 doesn't mean the parent is asking to hold off. That Page 91 Page 93 1 1 meeting being held in order to expedite the could just be they just continually cancel and 2 2 compensation that the student has lost. So that they're -- you know, they're -- it's disinterest. 3 would be the context that I would put it in. 3 So there's a difference between, "Hey, 4 THE CHAIR: All right. 4 they keep canceling," or, "They've asked us to 5 5 COMMISSIONER CABALLERO: And they did postpone this." So, you know, it's -- it's 6 6 describe semantics; but it's -- you know, it's what we're 7 7 THE CHAIR: And I'll be honest. I've had reading. 8 8 those meetings. Absolutely. I think we all have, MS. REBECCA BEIDLER: I'm not trying to be 17 17 absolutely. Sometimes a parent will communicate and rude nor disrespectful. And I apologize. It's just 18 say, "I can't be there, but it's okay." Where --18 when language is involved, it get very convoluted at 19 19 you know, you'll -- we'll see what it is, and then times. And it's very difficult to make the readers 20 20 if the parent has a concern about it, they'll understand; because when one person writes 21 communicate it back. Yeah. 21 something, you may read it one way, whereas, I read 22 MS. REBECCA BEIDLER: Okay. Madam Chair, 22 it totally a different way. 23 23 Rebecca Beidler, special education teacher, Alma So when language is written, it is very 24 d'Arte. 24 convoluted at times by the reader. And so I 25 25 When a parent asks you not to hold it apologize if I seem disrespectful, because I don't

Page 94 at all mean to be disrespectful. THE CHAIR: Thank you. COMMISSIONER VOIGT: Madam Chair? THE CHAIR: Commissioner Voigt? COMMISSIONER VOIGT: You know, just -- in the short time that I have been on this side of the fence, this issue really seems about organization and documentation. MS. REBECCA BEIDLER: It is. COMMISSIONER VOIGT: We hear these great things, and you're doing these things that are in compliance. But I think the PED Special Education Bureau has not received the documentation. MS. REBECCA BEIDLER: They haven't asked. COMMISSIONER VOIGT: And you have to be proactive. You can't wait for them to ask. You commissioner voici: And you have to be proactive. You can't wait for them to ask. You have to be in front of it. They haven't received the documentation to substantiate that these things are being done with fidelity. And I think that's really all this is about is having that documentation brought forward, that evidence, you know, to say that these things are being done.

MS. PATRICIA MATTHEWS: Madam Chair, Commissioner Voigt, I don't believe that -- I will say that I don't know what the CAP is. I don't have services. And I apologize that the letter was not that explicit that the parents had requested the extensions.

I --

THE CHAIR: Can I just tag on to that? And I appreciate the concept of proactiveness. And you're right. There wasn't a requirement placed in that CAP. But if I was a school who compensatory time and services and IEPs were -- it was a question, I think to be able to close out that CAP, to have the communication with the Special Ed Bureau to say, "Please review this, please take a look at our service logs so that we can communicate back to the Commission that we have closed out this concern with the Special Ed Bureau," and, therefore, everyone should be satisfied.

But, you know, that's -- if I was in the position of the scrutiny, I would want to be able to provide the verifiable information that the Special Ed Bureau is, in fact, satisfied, because we have provided the sampling of the IEPs. We have provided our service logs, and they have indicated to us that it's -- we are now in compliance, because the issue was compliance.

So -- but it's -- we learn everything

it in front of me.

But it's my understanding that it was not a requirement, that once the things that were identified to be wrong with the IEPs, that there was a follow-up inspection of all IEPs, which hasn't been done.

They have been -- all of the IEPs have been rewritten since the ones that the Special Education Bureau has reviewed. The logs that they mentioned and admit they haven't even asked for -- so when you say "proactive," I don't recall that being a requirement that charter schools proactively provide IEPs to the Department for compliance reviews on all levels.

So that's a miscommunication on both ends, if that's what was wanted. So I understand that there could be some concerns there. But, you know, certainly the doors are open. If SpEd wants to come and reinspect all of the IEPs for compliance, they can be made available, or they can certainly come to the school for that review. So I just think there's a crossways there on what was required.

So -- but the IEPs have been redone. They are all up to date. And what we're talking about are some amendments to deal with compensatory every day. So it's also important for us to know what we need to put into potentially future Corrective Action Plans so that we -- that we do have clarity for the schools as well.

MS. PATRICIA MATTHEWS: So just to be clear, is the Commission asking the school to send all of the IEPs to the Special Education Department for review?

THE CHAIR: We haven't asked that, no.
MS. PATRICIA MATTHEWS: I just want to make sure that's clear.

THE CHAIR: I've made it clear that that was not in the CAP.

MS. PATRICIA MATTHEWS: All right.

I do want to address -- I think Ms. -- or Commissioner Armbruster was getting into this question. And it seemed to be suggested by the Department representatives that this mastery class that we're talking about here, some of the students, depending on what their IEP says, would be assigned to those classes, not all of them.

COMMISSIONER ARMBRUSTER: Right. MS. PATRICIA MATTHEWS: Okay? So depending on -- and I think that was exactly where you were getting to, Commissioner Armbruster. And I think the implication from the Division was that -or the Bureau -- was that that was happening, that they were all just being pushed into this one class, and that's how their IEPs were being dealt with.

That is not what is happening. The students are receiving Individual Education Plans and services based on what's described in the IEP. So they are -- they could be in a regular classroom being served by the special education teacher, or they could be assigned to this particular classroom, depending on what each IEP says.

COMMISSIONER ARMBRUSTER: I understood that.

MS. PATRICIA MATTHEWS: Okay. I just wanted to make that clear, because I don't think that was a take-away from what SpEd said.

THE CHAIR: No. And I'm going to speak for them. But I think they were clear. But just based on looking at a schedule of what this class looks like, because they have not seen the updated IEPs, so they can't verify for us that that is what is happening in that class, that that class, just by looking at the schedule, could have the appearance of a one-size-fits-all.

But without, once again, seeing updated

THE CHAIR: -- can correct me if I'm wrong. But I do know that they often try to schedule and bring other bureaus in. But bureaus are also very busy. So oftentimes, schedules don't coincide.

So in a perfect world, where there's a huge staffing, that would be great, if that was part of every team with every site visit. But unfortunately, it's state government; so it -- we don't have the resources. And you can add, if you wish.

MS. KAREN WOERNER: No, Madam Chair. Thank you. I would agree with what you just said. And per the CSD site visit team in October, the concerns that have been expressed were very readily apparent. And so -- and the things that the Bureau mentioned were big concerns.

I do want to say that our second site visit in April, at least regarding the special ed pieces -- but I'm not the expert, so I rely on Special Ed -- but we did look at IEP folders. And I think Ms. Beidler has been hired since that first visit and has done a great job in getting things in order for the special ed students.

Of course, I'm still very concerned about

1 IEPs, they can't verify that there is individualized
2 instruction going on there.

Am I correct?

MS. CHARLENE MARCOTTE: Yes.

MR. TIMOTHY CRUM: Yes.

MS. PATRICIA MATTHEWS: That's clear. And as soon as they ask for it, we'll be more than happy to provide it to them.

Was there anything else you thought we needed to respond to, Ms. Beidler?

Dr. Schullo, did you want to respond to anything about the ELL?

DR. HOLLY SCHULLO: Actually, I want to thank you -- Madam Chair, thank you. I think we're coming to a clearer understanding. And some of this is coming down to just language.

We have -- we've reviewed everything. And I wish on our site visit -- maybe something that would have been helpful would have been to have a -- the Bureau members with the site team, you know, to open up our files once again and see the detailed work that we've produced.

THE CHAIR: Right. And I'm going -- and CSD can --

them and the lack of time that happened in the fall.
But it's not of any fault of Ms. Beidler. She came after that.

And I do think that from my limited special ed experience, I think that what I saw in the IEPs was vastly different and wouldn't have caused alarm for me had that been what I saw in October. So I do think there's been drastic improvements in the school in this regard.

And I know that the Special Ed Bureau hasn't had a chance to actually review them themselves. So I defer to them.

But what I saw did seem a vast improvement.

Our bigger concern from the site visit team is just in the lack of response to, in the fall, to getting some of these students serviced. And the same applies to the EL students. I -- the school still doesn't have English Language Development, or ELD, courses offered, and they're going to next school year. It's the end of the school year now. But when we pointed out in October, it was because we were concerned then.

So some of this has been in the continued responses that have come each step of the way. And

THE CHAIR: Right. And that was -- I'll simply say that's always been our concern from the very beginning, that it's the -- it was the lateness in getting services. And I understand the staffing issue. But there were students that went 300 hours without compensatory services at the beginning of the year. It's a concern.

And it -- and it has -- and it has to be, not because of the specific hours that have to be provided, but those specific hours represent students that need services.

And above all else and -- you know, I've made this public record -- it ended up two hours short. By statute, that's -- you know, you have to have the hours; but the concept is we're not meeting the needs of students. And the -- I can't imagine the frustration of those students sitting in classes that they can't be successful in because they're not getting the help that they -- that they need.

And I think that -- I don't know if that potentially plays into numbers of students that left the school out of frustration. And that's -- that's sad, because that's not what we want to see agree with them more. Because I walked into a mess.

- 1 2 And so I had -- I had -- I had two seniors who
- 3 needed compensatory services. One of our seniors
- 4 only had mental health services. And that senior
- 5 has been accepted by the Marine Corps. Don't know if he's going to make it or not. But I think his 6
- 7 biggest problem is absences -- I'm not saying any

8 names. MS. PATRICIA MATTHEWS: Well, it's pretty 9 > easy to identify one kid. THE CHAIR: I'm getting a little -- I'm getting a little concerned. MS. REBECCA BEIDLER: But tests may be a problem. That's all I can say. But it's not going

THE CHAIR: All right. And, you know, this was never anything ever addressed to you. And we understand the -- the mess; but the -- you know, our concern --

MS. REBECCA BEIDLER: I understand. My concern is that --

THE CHAIR: -- goes to when the mess started and that it wasn't addressed early enough and successfully enough. And that's -- I do -- I do have a question about -- because in our Letter of happening in our schools.

I will ask, out of the seniors that will be graduating, do we have an idea of how many are short? Because I -- I understand you're rolling over compensatory time to next year. But that --

MS. REBECCA BEIDLER: They're not short. The seniors aren't short.

THE CHAIR: So there weren't any seniors in that cohort that were short?

MS. REBECCA BEIDLER: There's three seniors in that cohort. And the compensatory service has been made up for those seniors. They're all passing, doing very well.

The only thing that might hold them back would be a portion of the State exam, which (indicates) I can honestly say -- I know what all the technical assistance manuals say on the New Mexico PED website concerning special education, because I am very well-versed in them. I used to teach special education in -- at the college level, and I understand everything that Charlene was

I understand everything that the -- that the Assistant Director -- the Deputy -- yeah, Deputy Director -- excuse me -- was saying. And I can't

Concern, there was -- we did address in there that opt-out letter for the compensatory services and a concern over that. And I don't think that was addressed in -- in this.

DR. HOLLY SCHULLO: Madam Chair, I understand what you're asking, is were we, like, hoping that our parents would opt out? You know, when we sent that letter --

THE CHAIR: Uh-uh. No, that wasn't -that wasn't our concern there. Our concern was having the letter.

DR. HOLLY SCHULLO: So when I sent that letter -- and I drafted that letter for compensatory services. And we mailed them, and then we talked with the students and let them know. And then we just -- I guess, like EL, you can have, "Yes, I want this," or, "No, I don't." And we were notifying parents.

And in my good intentions, I'm expediting and letting them know the urgency. I assumed that most of our parents were satisfied with the way we just hit the ground running and were fixing things and improving things.

Are we on the same page?

THE CHAIR: No, we're not. Because I

1	don't see how a letter that "I'm opting out" would	1	MS. PATRICIA MATTHEWS: Madam Chair, yes,

I was told no. thinking we can just make clear to the school -- I 13 don't think they're saying, "No, we won't do it." 13 That was the response. That wasn't being asked of 14 14 the school. I'm not sure they know what to do. And I'm a little 15 15 COMMISSIONER ARMBRUSTER: I wasn't sure. confused on what it is we need them to do. 16 16 I wanted to make sure we get this correctly, and I And it may be to send those to the Special 17 Ed Bureau; I don't know. So --20 20 MS. KAREN WOERNER: I did just look. We it to -- to Special Ed Division, or do they need to 21 had -- in response to the April 8th visit, not 21 make copies and -- I'm just unsure what needs to be 22 22 done, and I don't think they know, either. So maybe knowing what was happening at that time, the 23 requested follow-up was that the school upload the 23 if someone could tell me. 24 MS. KAREN WOERNER: Well, I can tell you 24 final PEC-approved special education Corrective 25 25 Action Plan. We can't -- sorry. The 25 from October to April in how they were documenting 25 acoustics up at this side are not good.

MS. CHARLENE MARCOTTE: It does indicate to parents that it just lets them know, "Were you aware that your -- that we didn't have services for your student and we owe compensatory services to you," basically. But it does say, "Do you want it, or do you not want it," and allows them -- for them to check off or decide which they want.

The concern would be is that they don't understand what the compensatory -- what that means, what does that mean. And to the extent to which they're owed could play a part before they sign off and how would that impact their student.

So if they never meet with them and they just receive this letter, they're probably -- like, want more school. It's just going to make more problems for me; so no. But yet their student might be struggling because they didn't have that particular service for that amount of time.

So that would be -- those are the concerns that I -- came to my mind when I saw the letter.

THE CHAIR: Okay. So I -- and I guess there's two concerns to --

COMMISSIONER ARMBRUSTER: Don't leave.

THE CHAIR: -- to be addressed with that. Only, number one, how many opted out, so they

2 So -- so it's -- you know, it still 3 happens. You try to do this -- you know; but if you 4 e-mail and things like so that the parents can get 5 it -- you know. It's that also, that level of 6 concern that wasn't there that it's going to be easier to hopefully get these parents to sign off, and that way, we won't have to do that.

MS. PATRICIA MATTHEWS: Madam Chair, may we respond to that issue? Because I think, according to Ms. Beidler, only two parents signed that paragraph. She spoke with them personally, and they insisted they did not want to come in. So -and they refused the compensatory services.

So the rest of them, the IEP amendment meetings are either scheduled or have occurred. And I believe the school probably is not using that letter after the original criticism of the letter.

THE CHAIR: But, see, through all this time, there's never even been that indication to us that, "We no longer use that letter." Because we've addressed this letter time and time again. And there's been no communication to us that, "We don't use that letter," you know.

So there's a frustration there that, you didn't -- you know, because of that lack of understanding. So they end up opting out. So that we can't have a correlation.

We can only identify through the IEP meetings that the compensatory component was addressed in the team meeting for those that didn't opt out. But for those that, because of a lack of understanding -- and you're right. For a lot of -it's like, "Oh, I don't want extra stuff," and, you know, they don't understand.

Because there would be a difference if I knew perhaps that my child only needed, you know, two hours, and, okay, they could probably -- it's owed. What's two hours? Or is my child owed 30 hours of compensatory time? That's, like -yeah, they really -- there's a level of need when you look at the number of hours.

So I think there's a fairness in parents understanding, by the number of hours, what that level of need for their student was.

And let's also be seriously honest. What students don't sign stuff from their parents when they get it home, you know? So there's also -there's also that; because, you know, way back when I was in school, it -- you know, my parents didn't

1 know. I think we've been fairly clear with what our 2 concerns are. And yet just a simple, you know, 3 "We're not using -- we don't use that..."

MS. PATRICIA MATTHEWS: Madam Chair, I just want to be respectful of the Commission. But I will have to say I'm reading this letter, and I don't see a statement that says, "You need to respond to this specific issue"; because the statement goes on to say, "The school must provide a schedule for IEP team meetings to demonstrate that the compensatory services are provided."

So that's exactly what they did, which would have addressed the question of whether or not they're using the form.

I guess I'm -- I'm very concerned that we're not all being clear about specific -- I mean, if you want a specific response to that specific question, that is not clear to me, as an attorney reading this letter.

THE CHAIR: Okay.

MS. PATRICIA MATTHEWS: And I -- we're trying to cooperate. And I guess it's -- it's just wordsmithing. I don't know the answer to the question. But if there were a bulleted, "You need to do this, this, this and this," again, I'm reading

Page 118 Page 120 1 the letter. I don't see it to say, "You must 1 THE CHAIR: That you wish you stayed 2 respond to this specific issue." 2 retired. 3 3 THE CHAIR: Okay. MS. REBECCA BEIDLER: I did say that. I 4 MS. PATRICIA MATTHEWS: So I -- you 4 couldn't remember what I said. I was either 5 5 know -- I -- it -- had you -frustrated or retired, one of the two. 6 THE CHAIR: Okay. 6 COMMISSIONER VOIGT: Just framing it in 7 7 MS. PATRICIA MATTHEWS: We're not trying that question, just processes and understanding and 8 8 not to be transparent; we're just not understanding your community -- just something to inspire --9 9 specifically exactly what is it that you all want us something that you might have learned from this 10 10 to respond to. process that might help you, ongoing. 11 THE CHAIR: Well -- and I think orally, a 11 MS. REBECCA BEIDLER: What did I learn 12 12 from this process? When I worked for a former response could have happened when we've addressed 13 this at public meetings to say, "We no longer use 13 district that I will not name, I was told by the LEA 14 14 that we currently have what great work I did. And that letter." I think that could have happened. 15 15 You know, that's simple. But we've -- we've now I feel like I don't have great work. 16 expressed this not -- in a letter. We've expressed 16 So I've actually become very frustrated. 17 17 And I know the law very well. And what have I this. 18 18 So, you know, if this -- we're -- you learned? I learned that I need to wordsmith better. 19 19 know -- we're trying to cooperate. No one has said MS. PATRICIA MATTHEWS: Madam Chair, 20 you're not cooperating. But there's a level of 20 members of the Commission, Commissioner Voigt, you 21 21 frustration on this side that this has been going on weren't on the Commission. But this is -- this is 22 22 since January. And we've got -- and we're closing a -- and there is no excuse here. That's not the 23 out a school year now, and this is where we still 23 intent. Maybe that there needs to be -- I'm not --24 are. 24 to me, what a school can learn from these processes, 25 And it doesn't -- it's not our time; it's 25 which is a transition from a very failed Page 119 Page 121 1 1 not our efforts that -- that's the concern. It's administration to transitioning and trying to clean 2 the students. And as indicated, you know, students 2 up, to somehow come up with some sort of an audit 3 3 process that identifies immediately, from the 4 COMMISSIONER VOIGT: Madam Chair? 4 get-go, what are the problems that we need to clean 5 5 THE CHAIR: And that's -- you know, that's up and move forward. 6 6 a concern when students are leaving a school, And I think -- I think the school, if they 7 7 because they feel they're not being serviced. And could say it in that concise and succinct way, would 8 8 they're frustrated. say it that way. But -- you know. And I -- and I hope you're correct. And maybe it's something that we need to also work on, so that when we look at a school that does experience those struggles, and, you know, notifies the change in administration -- and I think anytime there's a change in administration in a school, I think there's -- there's a support element that we need to be more cognizant of and involved in the support for so that the -- the problems just don't become close to insurmountable. So...

COMMISSIONER VOIGT: Especially when there's existing issues with the outgoing administrator to build that transition, even just to have a better transition.

I know that many -- most schools in general, charters and traditional schools, do not have a clear success plan. And that -- that's going to be if you're going five Septembers forward, then you're going to go three Septembers back anytime you change an administrator or move an administrator to a new school.

So if there's some kind of training or a -- we're at a better place, that there can be a --

- 2 you know, self-reporting a need shouldn't be a
- 3 self-reporting that, "I'm going to get myself in
- 4 trouble." That's where I think we're -- we're
- 5 hopefully -- I hope at; but at least moving towards
  - if folks don't think we're at that place yet, that
- 7 we're -- you know, that's the -- that's the climate
- 8 that's being created, so that a call can be made and
- 9 say, "Look. If this is -- this is what's happening." And it's not going to -- it's not going to to escalate, that it's support first; and then if that doesn't work -- so...

that doesn't work -- so...

MS. PATRICIA MATTHEWS: I can say from my chair that I appreciate the new administration at the Charter Schools Division.

THE CHAIR: Okay. Thank you.

17 Commissioner Ruiz?

COMMISSIONER RUIZ: Yes. So based on the conversation and the exchange of mail and -- e-mails and letters that we have received from the school, I think we need to make it very clear what it is that we're expecting of you-all and -- you know -- and so what are we wanting to do with that, so they can leave this meeting, and we all have a clear idea,

"This is exactly what we're requesting, and this is something that the CSD could support perhaps, when we know that there's going to be a transition in an administrator, you know, what are some linkage pieces that could help support the new administrator coming in, especially a new administrator that does not have previous charter school experience; because we know charter schools are a beast among themselves, and, you know, just the workload, in general, is much different.

THE CHAIR: Right. I was actually at the governing council meeting in the spring when they were actually having a discussion about the transition plan. And I thought they had something in place, you know. And unfortunately, it -- you know. And I was really kind of happy that they were actually thinking it through, and they thought they had the plan, and it -- it obviously didn't manifest; so -- for a variety of reasons.

So that's -- that's unfortunate that that happened. And there were a lot of people that were unaware that that didn't -- that wasn't going to happen. So that's where I guess better communication is -- is important, you know, on everyone's part, you know.

And I hope that it -- it's -- we're at exactly what we expect you to answer to," and that way, we can move forward.

THE CHAIR: Right.

MS. PATRICIA MATTHEWS: Thank you,

Commissioner Ruiz.

THE CHAIR: I'm sorry.

MS. PATRICIA MATTHEWS: I was just

THE CHAIR: Okay. I think -- I think the service logs would be important for Special Ed to be able to review, so that we're -- we're comfortable that the services have been provided.

Do Commissioners want anything else?

COMMISSIONER CABALLERO: I do.

THE CHAIR: Okay.

COMMISSIONER CABALLERO: I want to have the documentation of those parents that opted out and whether any of those parents that opted out left the school. And that -- to me, I just want to see that.

THE CHAIR: I'm sorry. I missed --

22 COMMISSIONER CABALLERO: Documentation or

THE CHAIR: So how would that take place? 6 COMMISSIONER CHAVEZ: Madam Chair, I'd 6 Is this your bureau going down? Or is this 7 7 something that they need -- so how do we accomplish like to just talk a little bit about the EL. 8 8 THE CHAIR: Sure. 9 COMMISSIONER CHAVEZ: And in reading the 9 MS. CHARLENE MARCOTTE: We have a secure 10 10 response, there's a lot of reference to staffing and site, the special education monitoring site, which having staff that are TESOL or bilingually endorsed 11 11 is how they got us the IEPs the first time. So we 12 and that sort of thing. And there's reference to PD 12 would ask that they upload their IEPs through that 13 that they received from the school district that 13 same site this time around, and we will create a 14 they're located. 14 different folder for them to put the new IEPs in, 15 15 However, it wasn't really clear as to how and we will review that to make sure that those 16 we're servicing our ELLs. And what I mean by that 16 changes they're indicating have been made. 17 is how are they providing equity for our ELLs? In 17 THE CHAIR: Okay. Thank you. But I want to express for myself that -and I thought I made it clear yesterday -- that any part of this discussion has never been about, "We don't support the schools taking their model and starting a new school." And I am somewhat offended when it's opined that we could potentially be breaking the law. It's offensive to me to think that we would conduct ourselves in that manner.

So that was -- I'm going to say that. And I'm going to say -- excuse me. I've got some tea stuck in my throat. Herbal tea gets too fine. Sorry.

So I think we expressed fairly well yesterday that a great portion of our concern is that we want to make sure there's good governance in those schools so that a separate board, we truly do believe, assures a quality governance, and that a separate contract makes -- for both parties, it helps to protect that new school, and it also helps to protect the Commission as well, and that we're sure that the model that is looking to go forward

1 COMMISSIONER CABALLERO: Yes, discussion. 2 THE CHAIR: Sure.

3 COMMISSIONER CABALLERO: On the motion 4 itself, my experience has been that when you have a 5 motion, it's very, very important to separate the 6 issues. And one is the -- the -- in other words, I think it's important to separate the abbreviated 8 submission from the beginning portion and maybe have 9 the abbreviated portion as a separate motion. That 10 way, those people that like one or the other don't 11 have to vote for it because they like one aspect 12 very much. And it makes it very clear who's where.

> So, personally, I would be -- it would be very hard for me to vote for it, because I want to be able to fully discuss, if we're going to abbreviate, what that's going to be.

I know that it's something that we're going to take on as a -- as an action item. But I don't think it -- I don't want to be cornered through the motion. I want to be able to have the flexibility to do it, to discuss it. Otherwise, no, you -- I need the abbreviated application that you approve.

THE CHAIR: Okay. Could you just repeat that last part, 'cause -- is, in fact, the model that is being proposed.

And that we're not saying that the -- that we're not supporting those models and that we are not supporting the opportunity for those models to move forward, but that there's a process that we're more comfortable with going forward in support of that, and, most importantly, in support of the students that they're servicing in those schools and the communities that they're making those promises to.

So that I'll -- if there's no further discussion on that, I will offer a motion based on that work that we did yesterday, okay? And then we can further discuss, if needed.

So I am going to move that the Public Education Commission remove the Second School Site Amendment Request from the website, to be replaced by an abbreviated new school application to be completed by the Commission at a future work session and voted on by the Commission at a regular public education meeting.

COMMISSIONER RUIZ: Second. THE CHAIR: There's a motion by Commissioner Gipson, a second by Commissioner Ruiz.

Any further discussion?

Page 145

COMMISSIONER CABALLERO: Yes. Because I think that way, we're not cornered to producing that abbreviated application, because it was in the motion. So if we approve doing one thing, this is the first part, the second part, the abbreviated, we should do it at a separate motion or some other time when we discuss that issue specifically.

THE CHAIR: Okay. And I agree with you. But I have one concern about that. And my only concern is that -- and I'm more than willing to rescind and to do two separate motions.

I guess my concern over separating them out is I have -- I don't want schools -- if that's all we did was to remove the amendment possibility, there can be an underlying thought that we're not going to support the opening of -- you know, through, potentially, a new application.

And I could be wrong. I thought yesterday the expression was, "We do support the idea of the opening of those schools through their model through this vehicle."

And if we don't make that second motion, I'm concerned that schools might think we're not in support.

COMMISSIONER ROBBINS: Madam Chair, I --

39 (Pages 150 to 153) Page 150 1 discussion on a motion; so that that's -- it's only 1 THE CHAIR: Because when you said "add 2 2 on," I thought you were looking to add on to the the Commissioners that get to weigh in on this. 3 3 MS. KAREN WOERNER: Sure. motion. 4 COMMISSIONER ARMBRUSTER: Okay. Well, 4 COMMISSIONER ARMBRUSTER: No, I'm not 5 5 obviously, this is a repeat of my statements from doing that to you. 6 yesterday. 6 THE CHAIR: No, not to me. 7 And my belief is that we have a procedure, 7 COMMISSIONER ARMBRUSTER: To the motion. 8 8 we have a law that says that schools can have But one of the things that I don't recall seeing is 9 another school, but it would be considered as one 9 that that second school had to have, within X amount 10 10 facility. I understand that the "one facility" of years, two or three, be a non-small school. And 11 means one charter, which means that the discussion 11 by definition, that was 200 for elementary and 400 12 was that if that one charter is -- if one school 12 for high school; so that they weren't a school that 13 fails, the whole thing fails. I have some issues 13 was very small and would continue to need help. 14 with that; but that's another story. 14 Financial help would be the point of that. 15 But I think that after much thought from 15 So -- let me see. And the other reason I 16 the last meeting, where I thought, wow, we should 16 guess I support schools opening another school is we 17 have two governing councils, that I realized that 17 know what we're dealing with. I know there was an 18 I'm thinking that it shouldn't have two governing 18 issue about, well, the money for this school goes to 19 councils, because governing councils are autonomous 19 this second school of a particular school that could 20 groups, and they could change what they wanted for 20 have been given to another school. 21 this school for which they are in charge and 21 I don't see the difference. The money is 22 responsible for. And that change could then change 22 going to a school. It doesn't matter which school 23 the original school's way of doing something. 23 it goes to, because we're talking about children. 24 They may say, "Oh, no, let's just change 24 And if it goes to a school who has a successful 25 this little thing or tweak this little thing," and 25 record, I feel that they -- they deserve the money Page 151 Page 153 1 1 then it wouldn't be a duplication of the original to run a second school in the anticipation that it 2 2 school, which was highly successful. would be as successful as the first one. 3 If we look at even having an application 3 Thank you. 4 changed and much shorter and less to do, I'm not 4 THE CHAIR: Okay. Sorry. 5 even sure why we would need an application, because 5 COMMISSIONER ARMBRUSTER: And I might add 6 6 the school who wishes to open another school would that I foresee a lawsuit coming. 7 7 THE CHAIR: Okay. Sorry. I apologize. have the same exact program and the same exact 8 8 Is there any other discussion? everything. 9 Obviously, children are different. 9 Okay. Without further discussion, 10 10 Commissioner Armbruster, roll-call vote, please?

Obviously, staff is different. But nothing else would be different. So would they be able to then accommodate children from a different place in town? Well, yeah. Because kids would choose to go there or not. And for every child in any school, one has to make adjustments to ensure that that child is learning in his or her best way.

I would probably add on to this, if this were to be, that if a school wanted to open a second site, that that second site, as well as the first site, would have to have -- is this okay? Am I okay?

THE CHAIR: I'm not -- I'm only confused as to whether you're trying to add on to the motion.

COMMISSIONER ARMBRUSTER: No. I'm just talking. I'm -- no, I'm just discussing.

23 actually means no. 24 COMMISSIONER CABALLERO: That was -- can I 25 change it?

no is a no. Sometimes that get confusing and a yes

THE CHAIR: A yes is a yes is a yes and a

COMMISSIONER DAVIS: I have a question.

THE CHAIR: So do you want me to read --

COMMISSIONER DAVIS: So now I know if a

COMMISSIONER DAVIS: So I got all mixed up

THE CHAIR: Oh, sorry.

Cindy, could you please read the motion?

yes is a yes or a no is a no.

(The record was read as requested.)

THE CHAIR: okay. Are we clear?

COMMISSIONER ROBBINS: Yes.  COMMISSIONER ARMBRUSTER: That's why I had nine-to-one.  THE CHAIR: So I have a second motion.  COMMISSIONER VOIGT: We knew that was coming.  THE CHAIR: So I move that the Public Education Commission wait a minute. I have to think about this.  (Chair consults with Commission counsel.)  THE CHAIR: So I'm going to move that the Public Education Commission develop a process for an application for a school to be able to open up a	6 7 8 9 10 11 12 13 14 15 16 17 18 19 20 21 22 23	(The record was read as requested.)  THE CHAIR: I'm hearing  COMMISSIONER ARMBRUSTER: I'm not this isn't a against it. What I was hearing, which is confusing me about the motion only  THE CHAIR: Right.  COMMISSIONER ARMBRUSTER: is that we're developing a process for the application. So that means it can encompass a lot. It's not just an abbreviated application.  THE CHAIR: We can't make that decision.  COMMISSIONER ARMBRUSTER: Okay.  THE CHAIR: That's in the development of it, it's determined whether it's a whole new application, or are we simply taking  COMMISSIONER ARMBRUSTER: Right.  THE CHAIR: what already exists. We're just looking at looking at it.

So you received, through your packet, the first best version of those changes. But those changes came through before the negotiation was road-showed. So you have a cheat sheet of those changes that was provided this morning. Those of you that were at the work session yesterday, we went -- we went through it. But just to be clear, this -- these are the changes. And as we spoke about yesterday, we will also provide to all of the schools who are having to sign these contracts, we will provide this cheat sheet as well to them so that -- because they're going to get the clean copy, and this will hopefully guide them where to find those changes in case they have any questions. I hope this offers clarification to them.

So on the top part are the proposed changes for the contract. And I will gladly go through any of these if folks still have a question or a concern about them. If you could just briefly run through them just to see.

And then, of course, at the -- the second piece is the proposed changes to the performance 1 you can actually see what happens, you're doing review and accountability system. And I want to focus Commissioners' attention to the back page, which was, thank you very much, having to deal with numbers at literally hour 11 to try to figure out the -- the breakdown of points for the tier system.

So that -- because we made the changes to the performance framework last year, the -- the rating system was based with the mission-specific goals being only the 10 additional points. Now that we've embedded those mission-specific goals with points into the contract, we needed to retweak -and, actually, I think we found out that we really didn't end up making huge tweaks to it.

Karen thoughtfully ran that blind run for us. We really found that there weren't outrageously big differences in how scores -- how schools are going to end up, anyway.

COMMISSIONER VOIGT: And, you know, I don't think we could have done that without those two charts from -- the data from 2018 and from 2019. So thanks for running that.

MS. KAREN WOERNER: Oh, good.

The motion passes. And we are on now to Item No. 11, which originally, I was going to say we'll table it; but I do want to brief the Commissioners on what has gone on a little bit with this. When we engaged with one of the -- when we engaged with one of those reengagement schools during the contract negotiations, there was a noticeable level of angst over the potential fallout of this new system; and, you know, there are still those gray areas about knowing exactly what the

So that there is a general level of concern, but for school until they actually see it the first time.

a school that services that really very specific accountability system is going to look like for each special population.

And we knew from the previous accountability system that it was virtually conversation.

But that actually led us to that let's try to make blind run of this system so that we could perhaps see how this school would -- would be through this new accountability system. So that at the very least, we could make that assurance that -- because there was a concern addressed by the school that they were always going to be a Tier 4, and they could never get out of Tier 4.

And we tried to address that, and I think we did adequately on Wednesday, that based on the performance framework and the point system, unless they absolutely did nothing, they did nothing towards the goal, they're still going to get points. And they thought they'd always be at zero points with that. And they won't be.

So I think they felt better, because they -- they were looking more at the old system than the new system.

So -- but we did -- and I think we do -- want to look at the definition of a reengagement school. Not today.

COMMISSIONER VOIGT: So just also to apprize the Commission of some of the factors that go in to creating a disengaged student, you know, impossible -- because of the graduation rate issue, that a reengagement school could never be better than a "C." That was the bottom line. Because of the way the points are calculated and so on, they -- they just -- they could not -- that was it. That was the best that they were going to be able to do.

We've got a new system. There was a concern about how the performance framework was going to -- the new performance framework was going to affect reengagement schools in general; of course, this school, in particular, because we were meeting with them.

We felt that the discussion was important enough, and to hopefully make this school as comfortable as we could at the time with this system, that we agreed to meet Wednesday afternoon with that school so that we could have a further discussion outside of the contract negotiations discussion, to see where the concerns were and how we could help to address them.

And Ami was there. Commissioner Voigt was there for a good portion of the time. And I appreciate that time, and we certainly appreciate the time that Tani from Cesar Chavez was willing to give us; because it's -- it is a greater that would need to be reengaged, you know, we have to look at things like their homeless -- is this a homelessness factor; illness factors; high incidence of student disciplinary actions; their overall attendance rates. You know, those are just -- number of "F"s on their transcripts.

Those are just some of the pieces that might cause disengagement from a school. But then also the reengagement piece we need to consider for future is what kind of programs are really bringing in those kids to be reengaged, perhaps that were lost out on the other schools' side that the student became disengaged; but those kind of factors when we start crafting the definition.

THE CHAIR: Right. Because I think at this point in time, we -- you know, we're not exactly sure all the schools that would fall into that definition. So we need to engage with the schools --

 $\label{lem:commissioner} COMMISSIONER\ VOIGT:\ With\ the\ reengagement\ schools.$

THE CHAIR: -- to see what is the definition of "reengagement," which is completely separate from the SAMs definition.

COMMISSIONER VOIGT: Right.

THE CHAIR: This is -- for the Commission, this is what is reengagement.

But to continue down the road of that discussion -- and we have less influence on this. But part of the -- that conversation -- and it was expressed by the school -- needs to be that as a reengagement school, they really only work when they're small. Yet the State is not supporting small schools.

But their program really only works when they truly have that one-on-one contact and know everyone in the school, because that's where that, you know, maybe a little bit more pressure that I -you know, that, "I need to be there," but also that, "Someone knows me, I'm being heard, and people care about me."

Because so many of the students that go to those schools are those students that feel disengaged, you know, and they've got those issues outside of school so that school is their safe harbor. That's their family. And that doesn't work when there's 500 kids in a school.

So that, you know, I don't know where that conversation comes in: but that conversation need to -- needs to come in.

1 there being the advocate for the -- the student

2 population that she supports. 3 So -- and we want to make sure that all the schools that fall into that are -- are being heard, because I think a lot of them felt that they

6 were dismissed through legislation of not funding over 22, that that was a message that, "We don't want those schools any longer."

And from our perspec- -- well -- and -and we didn't support that and made that known. But we want to continue to let the schools know that we're going to work within whatever parameters we have to support them.

So only to that --

COMMISSIONER ARMBRUSTER: Madam Chair?

COMMISSIONER VOIGT: So, Madam Chair?

Also -- sorry, excuse me -- I just wanted to say also that it would be really great if we could hear from a consortium of schools that currently feel they are reengagement schools to find out what their specific needs might be around defining what qualifies them as a reengagement school.

THE CHAIR: Right. And we made that agreement with Tani that we would engage -- I keep using the word "engage in the reengagement" -- that the schools that felt that they preliminarily fell into that umbrella, we would invite them into the conversation.

Some of them may fall out of the umbrella based on the definition. But any of the schools that feel that they have, you know, a piece of that apple, that we'll invite them in so that we have a -- a good working definition of -- of what that is. So at a future -- soon -- work session, that's -- that's on our plate as well. So I just want to -- and I want to thank, once again, because Tani does an incredible job of really being an advocate for reengagement schools. There are many others as well. But she's certainly always out

COMMISSIONER ARMBRUSTER: The school.

COMMISSIONER VOIGT: But most schools that

THE CHAIR: It is not a school that just happens to have a small evening program, no.

COMMISSIONER ARMBRUSTER: And I'm just curious. What number were they kind of throwing around as would be a good number to have to accomplish the most? I mean, like 100? 50? 22? I iust wanted to know.

are reengagement schools, they operate -- their numbers are just like any other standard small charter school; you know, 250, 300. They just happen -- their mission just happens to be that they focus on reengaging disengaged students or returning-to-school students.

THE CHAIR: I think it would have to be at least -- you know, that small-school threshold.

COMMISSIONER VOIGT: Right.

THE CHAIR: That concept. Not 50.

COMMISSIONER ARMBRUSTER: I really didn't know. I didn't.

22 THE CHAIR: Yeah. The idea is we -- we 23 purposely state "small school," because that aligns 24 with our mission and the student population. It's 25 not that we stay purposely small, because we wanted Page 178 small-school size adjustments.

COMMISSIONER ARMBRUSTER: Right. COMMISSIONER VOIGT: Which is going bye-bye anyway.

2.5

THE CHAIR: They weren't gaming the system. And that's the point. We need to look at how, in any way, that we can still support that and not them lose their ability to fulfill that mission.

Okay. So here are my kudos to all the folks that went on the road trip with us.

It was an incredible amount of work by the CSD staff in preparation for it in getting us ready for each and every day, in getting us through those meetings with tracking those changes; and without that, we wouldn't have been able to be successful, not even as successful as we were. We would not have been successful, period. So, you know, we certainly appreciate all that.

I appreciate Commissioner Armbruster and Commissioner Voigt for traveling down to Cruces and spending some time in my hometown. So that was -- and it's always exciting when I get to travel three miles for a meeting. It doesn't happen often.

And as I said, I can -- it's easier for me to be late when I'm leaving home, because there's schools felt that they were -- they were heard, and we were able to represent much of that in the mission-specific goals and through the contract negotiations.

So I am confident that governance council members are going to be supportive of this, and we will be looking to June for a vote as CSD continues on this never-ending work; so -- because now they have to get those clean contracts available and to the schools so that they can -- that they can make the votes on it.

We have been -- I indicated that we spent quite a bit of time, most recently, trying to deal with the appeal of the Corrective Action Plan. And I think that's been, hopefully, successful. And we'll deal with some of the other items as we go into Executive Session. So I think that's been my time.

You know, we didn't put Matt on -- but we didn't put him on the agenda.

MS. AMI JAEGER: Because we don't have a vote. That's why.

COMMISSIONER VOIGT: It's No. 12, Public charter schools of New Mexico.

THE CHAIR: I'm sorry. I'm looking at the distractions; so it's -- I'm not used to that.

And I want to thank Ami, because she hung in there with us. And Mark made the travel down for Thursday. But it's -- it's exhausting work. It's mentally exhausting work, let alone all the travel.

And then there's the other legal issues that come up after we're leaving the meeting that have to be wrangled for the next day. So there's really -- there's a lot of -- there's a lot of work on the fly that has to be done, and we appreciate that.

And Commissioner Robbins was able to join us through our Albuquerque adventures, and Commissioner Raftery came in as well. So I appreciate that time as well.

And then who was here yesterday?

Well, Commissioner Davis was here yesterday, and Commissioner Ruiz was here yesterday. So it's been a cast of characters that have been floating in and out of this little scenario. So I think it went -- it went very well.

Schools, I think, left clear on what the expectations were. I hope they feel that they were heard. Not everyone walks away with everything that they thought they, you know, needed. But I hope proposed motions. I'm not looking at the agenda.

We left Matt out.

COMMISSIONER CABALLERO: He's still here. THE CHAIR: And I saw him move down. And it's, like, wait a minute. He's not -- I apologize.

I was looking at the wrong document.

Okay. So now we have the update from Public Charter Schools of New Mexico. Sorry.

MR. MATT PAHL: Thank you, Madam Chair. Just a quick note on your -- one of your discussion items for the reengagement high schools.

THE CHAIR: Uh-huh.

MR. MATT PAHL: There were a couple of members of the Coalition who did some work on this in the past, probably the most traction that has gotten done. So in addition to the schools, I just encourage you to reach out to Greta Roskom, to Kelly Callahan, and to Jim Griffin, who was somebody they contracted out with at the time.

He did a lot of work on this in Colorado where they have a pretty good system. And he actually did do work in New Mexico, too. He may -- I won't say -- I won't say if he'll do it pro bono. But I know every time I see him at random events nationally, he's just so interested in pushing that MR. MATT PAHL: The next thing I just note from earlier in the conversation is on Illuminate Ed and finding goals for that. I know there's -- right now with Dolores Huerta, because they have that as an interim assessment, there's this question of how do we make goals for that.

I just want to note that it's important to -- it's important that we find a path forward for that, because I think a lot of interim assessments are going to be moving in this way, where NWEA MAPs will provide, like -- it'll just spit out a growth score for you.

Illuminate is an assessment that allows teachers to select the standards that they're trying to assess, and it really provides some teacher control that I think a lot of schools are seeing as a real positive.

And so this is kind of a "canary in the coal mine" of how we create an appropriate goal for someone who uses assessments like that, because it's just not going to be as clean as NWEA MAPs, which is kind of the standard, or Istation.

MR. MATT PAHL: Just a recap on the regional workshops that we held over the last two weeks.

THE CHAIR: That's what I forgot to mention.

MR. MATT PAHL: Thank you, Commissioner Gipson, for coming to our Las Cruces event. Thank you, CSD staff, for coming to our Gallup event.

The big part that we went over was we had -- there are a lot of passed bills; I think 47 was my count. So I don't envy PED staff who will have to put out guidance. And not that it's any one person, but, you know, multiple places here.

And I think for some of those schools are very eagerly awaiting those rules and guidance. And so we got to have those initial conversations, though, which just raises awareness about what's coming down the chute here.

I don't anticipate -- and I think we did talk to the Chair at our meeting, you know -- until these are really formalized, I don't -- the schools might -- if it's an issue that they know is really important to them or the bill is just so crystal-clear in what the content is, they should go ahead and respond to it.

So it's just something to think about. It's a push, because I just see more schools, and teachers at those schools, saying, "You know what? This allows me to get the information I need to inform instruction."

It doesn't fit in as well for school goals, though. So it's a challenge. But I'm hopeful that we're able to figure something out.

THE CHAIR: And just to be clear, it's not a goal. It's not a mission-specific goal.

MR. MATT PAHL: Oh, okay.

THE CHAIR: It's not. It's part of -- the discussion was in regards to the Corrective Action Plan, benchmarks that we wanted to see. But it's not a mission-specific goal.

MR. MATT PAHL: I see. Okay.

THE CHAIR: We didn't have any schools -because the recommendation from the Commission was that they have to be mission-specific, so that they are not math and reading goals in that sense. MR. MATT PAHL: Okay. Appreciate that.

THE CHAIR: So -- but I do appreciate that information. Because even when we're looking at CAPs, we need to be able to figure out a benchmark, whatever that is.

You know, the fire drill policy bill; that's crystal clear. You don't need a piece of guidance or a new rule from PED.

But there are several in which, yeah, you can start brainstorming about this, but you should probably wait until you get something from -- from the folks who get to interpret this stuff.

So surprisingly that even just those conversations held a lot of value for the schools, and we were able to walk through a number of bills to just highlight for them that things are changing.

One example that we used in every one -we kind of mixed them up based on the schools that were there -- was medical marijuana in classrooms, which is now -- you are now able to administer that medical -- that medication in schools.

And that was after the conversation, schools are -- "You know what? This is very similar to how we handle other prescriptions."

And it may or may not be an issue right away. But you better believe if you have a parent that is an advocate for their student using that, they're going to know right away on July 1 when that's effective. So it was a good heads-up for our members.

We also talked a little bit about the budget and how that's going. Early on, after the bills were passed, we knew that these would be tougher times for our charter schools and for getting close to having real numbers behind this. And so as we get those numbers, we want to share those with you and with the legislators.

Given the commitments that were made and mandates through the legislation, mostly in teacher salaries and the amount that was actually given, you put in the change in ERB, you put in change in just overhead costs for insurance, things like that, people are finding they don't have a lot of money, even if they weren't hit by small-school size adjustment.

And so most first schools are okay for this next year. But I think we really want to make sure we're telling our story of how this impacted our schools in a complete way.

So just anticipate we being up here each month giving you a specific story about how this was impacted; because we certainly agreed with many of the policy notions that went forward. However, it's becoming clear that the amount of money that went in above the line just isn't quite cutting it for better than you all. They've been approved; you know how the schools are going. Out of anybody at PED, it's likely that the CSD was the last group to be in that school.

So it's -- they may have a better feel for whether they're going to meet their enrollment goals for next year based on all the other circumstances that are in that.

And so I'm just identifying an issue there. I don't really know what the path forward is, though. But it does feel like there's -there's a role that the folks in this room can play to add that context for when a school has 100 students, and next year saying, "You know what? I think we're going to have 130. Is that realistic or not?"

Because I -- what Mr. Craig really helped me understand was, you know, whether you have a rosy projection or a conservative one, they're both probably going to be wrong.

How do we figure out a pathway that allows people to really plan for a budget that's reasonable for the students that they'll likely have without making it really difficult for them to recruit teachers at this point in the year, which is really

So we want to tell those stories so people know the impact and they have good information to move forward on next session as we create the SEG allocation for next year.

Lastly, as we go through the budget cycle -- I'm just highlighting this for us because I think it impacts -- it impacts our schools. As a school is growing, if they're adding a new grade level, or if they got a new facility that allows them to enroll more students that's within the range of their cap, there's this issue of being able to budget for those students.

So if I had 200 students last year and was serving grades K-1-2, and now I wanted to add a third grade, and am approved to do so -- so I'm just going ahead with growth -- there is an issue of being able to budget for your anticipated students next year.

And David Craig and I had a good conversation last week on how that number is calculated or figured out for schools.

And I do think there's an opportunity for the Commission or the CSD to play a role in that, because nobody knows the schools' growth plans

Page 189 important, or -- and without them getting a bunch of

So there's a balance there. And I just want to note on the record that I really appreciate the conversation I had with Mr. Craig and also just 6 feel like there just may be a role for the Commission or the CSD to be able to just help with some context around that so schools have a 9 reasonable budget.

extra money that they shouldn't have, right?

THE CHAIR: We are supposed to look at budgets. So -- and you're right. I guess it's always better to err on caution, because it's not going to hurt you as much.

But it does hurt you when you're doing, on the recruitment side, the staffing and so on. But, yeah, that over-projection, we've seen some schools that it's come close to crippling because of that over-projection.

There's also over-projection and then over-projection. And I think if you go back a number of -- not that long ago. But even traditional school districts play that game fairly well, you know.

So it's -- you know, it started to become a fabric of what schools did. And then it's, like, yeah, but that's not good.

2.5

So it -- you know, it takes a little while. And, yeah, when you're talking about a school of 30 starting out, you know, an over-projection can be just a couple of kids; but it's going to be a costly over-projection.

So -- and -- yeah, we do -- you're absolutely right. We have to look at that.

I just want to add in that -- you know, with that discussion about schools feeling a pinch even though there's all this extra money, we're on the -- because of our new e-mail addresses, we get all the do-it notices and so on.

And I don't remember the individual's name. But somehow they're involved in the insurance -- school insurance. And we got the e-mail that said, "Oh, bad news is that insurance is going to go up 5 percent. But the good news is teachers got a raise, so they can -- they can -- you know, they can withstand that."

It's, like, so where did the raise come in, you know? And not -- you know, it's also that, that there's still that level of, "Oh, it's okay. We can..." -- and I get, insurance is -- you know, is never going to go down. But people need to add something to that? Because I know PED is hearing a lot about this. And PED can't add money to the budget.

THE CHAIR: Got that.

MR. MATT PAHL: And so I'll let you guys decide whether that's helpful to you. But I think Deputy Secretary Delgado, during Thursday's charter school call -- was that yesterday morning was the charter school call? -- he had noted, and I think correctly -- and I'll be echoing this to schools -- that really, it's with the regulator that you need to share this -- your -- this --

THE CHAIR: My intent was not as a group session to say, okay, and the expectation that PED's coming with a suitcase of money and going to be able to -- you know, here -- you know, here's your $100,000, and here's your $100,000; but to take a look at -- because some schools may not know some of the options that they may have to explore within the -- you know -- within grants, programs that -- because they're -- you know, they've got a little bit of blinders on in trying to just navigate this.

And I think just even the broader conversation, that all schools are together. And a school can say, "Hey, you know what? We did this," understand that when salaries go up and insurance is going up, retirement is going to go up, that what was the real raise that came into it? And I don't think it was.

MR. MATT PAHL: And, Madam Chair, if I can add on to that, I think most of the conversations in the Roundhouse were kind of supply-side. It was, like, yeah, but everybody is getting this much more money. And I don't think there are a lot of conversations about the elevated costs as well. And those obviously go hand-in-hand when we're budgeting; so...

THE CHAIR: Okay. So now that we're on that conversation and we've got CSD staff here, would it be most appropriate to have time allotted at the June conference to be able to really engage in more schools to say, "Okay, here's the problems that..." -- because now they've done their budgets.

So, you know, during Session, people were trying to play with their budgets; but they really didn't have the time. But now they have the absolute numbers. "This is -- this is what this is going to look like. So now give me some suggestions as to how I do this," you know.

MR. MATT PAHL: Madam Chair, if I can just just to say -- but, no, my intention was not to point a finger and say, "It's PED's fault," and -- but I think we have to be part of the process of trying to be as helpful in terms of giving out whatever information can help in light of this, you know.

And, yeah, understanding that there's no more money that's going to come in from this; but it would be nice if legislators were invited and able to be part of that conversation.

MR. ALAN BRAUER: Madam Chair and members of the Commission, I agree. And I think we can find the space for that. And I think we can do that without too much imagination and not making it -- otherwise known as a gripe session -- but to really be productive.

And I've been in many, many conversations over the last two weeks with charter schools. And it's -- they have -- the conversations have been very focused in on -- on the -- the individual schools. And I think there's an opportunity for us, in a moment where we're really celebrating 20 years of charters in New Mexico, to coalesce schools about, yeah, how were we -- how were we going to continue operation towards our mission and vision,

I think most of the 22 But the early discussion was, "What?" You 22 charters had good goals; but some of them had to be 23 know, when it was learned how many Commissioners 23 massaged a little bit because they were probably not 24 wanted to participate, they were -- they were a 24 quantifiable or specific enough to meet the need of 25 little concerned that they were comping that many 25 what the Commission is actually after.

The PSCOC, this morning we were talking a lot about broadband and the work in broadband in a lot of schools. And they actually had a map showing the changes in the cost per megabytes of how it's happening. What was really interesting is, you know, I live in Albuquerque, which you would think has wonderful broadband and the access is there. But the costs are sometimes twice as high as other parts of the state. And I'm, like, "Okay, we have it, but it's not necessarily cheap."

But the other thing was is how some areas, like Artesia, is like two to three times what it is in Roswell. And it's like, "You're not that far; you're right next to each other."

And some of the places in Southeastern New Mexico have very high cost. And you're, like, why is it as high as it is in the Hondo Valley? You don't have the terrain issues that you have in Ruidoso and things like that.

It was very interesting. Overall costs are coming down. But that is one of the big things is you can get the infrastructure in. But if the cost is what a local school can support -- and charters really have a huge issue in that area, one, because they're small. A lot of times they're in

COMMISSIONER ROBBINS: Partly, it's demand. Partly, it's labor shortages in certain skilled areas. It's quotas and certain things going on and tariffs driving up certain commodity prices, steel, aluminum, and things like that, which is very

And then for monitoring, they're going to do a better job of monitoring. Right now, they just have this big spreadsheet with everything in it. It's really kind of hard to see with what the -- the $50,000 broadband projects compared to your $5 million or $10 million school improvement projects.

So we'll be working on those type of things. That's about all I have. I appreciate you giving me the allowance of not being here last month. I was attending the PSCOC. They are going to do better. In June, the meeting has been changed, or will be changed, so it will not conflict with this meeting. So, hopefully, they'll be considerate of that going forward also.

COMMISSIONER ARMBRUSTER: That's good; because we can give them, in January -- December -- what it will be for the next year.

COMMISSIONER ROBBINS: And they have that leased facilities, and bringing that in becomes a whole other issue.

Another thing they look at is about $360 million of authorized capital projects in schools statewide, and only about $93 million have actually been identified and in progress and things. So they're working on -- they have this huge pipeline.

David Abby also mentioned, with the Legislature, about $1.8 billion of capital projects with all the additional funding and everything.

Are we really reaching the capacity of what the construction industry in New Mexico is able to do? Is it going to push prices up; because usually, if you get up to where you're, you know, utilizing 100, 105 percent of your workforce, your costs are just going to start skyrocketing.

So that's one of the big issues that PSCOC has asked PSFA, to start tracking, on bids and revisions, the costs per square foot, what's actually happening and seeing what's happening; because we've seen some costs go up from early estimates to revised estimates as much as 20, 25 percent increases in costs.

COMMISSIONER CABALLERO: Is that demand?

Commissioner Armbruster?

COMMISSIONER ARMBRUSTER: Thank you all for putting up with me. And -- but the other thing I just want to say, maybe Beverly, you were going to say this. When Beverly sends out an e-mail and asks if you're coming on Thursday and Friday, and if you want parking, I think it's really important, because there have been times when we didn't have a quorum. Then we're still having a meeting, and we can't vote.

THE CHAIR: We've never been out of quorum.

COMMISSIONER ARMBRUSTER: I'm saying it could happen that we do not have a quorum. Anyway, it's important for Beverly to know and people to put
