

NM Public Education Department

NM Multi-Layered System of Supports

Links to National Resources

1. U.S. Department of Education provides technical assistance and resources under the Early Literacy Tools tab <https://www2.ed.gov/about/inits/ed/earlyliteracy/tools.html>. The tool includes the four essential components of quality reading instruction through Multi-Tiered Systems of Behavioral and Academic Support.
2. U.S. Department of Education provides Promising Practices: Inclusion Equity Opportunity Multi-Tiered Systems of Support <https://www2.ed.gov/about/inits/ed/earlyliteracy/k-3-literacy-multi-tiered-systems-of-support.pdf> as part of the My Brother's Keeper Promising Practices Series: Practices to Promote Grade-Level Reading by Third Grade.
3. According to the Center on Response to Intervention (<https://www.rti4success.org/>), 22 states, including New Mexico, have been awarded State Personnel Development Grants (SPDG) (<http://www.signetwork.org/>) that directly support schools and districts in implementing school-wide tiered systems of support in reading, math and behavior.
4. Some states noted by the U.S. Department of Education for their models:
 - Michigan https://www.michigan.gov/mde/0,4615,7-140-28753_65803_86454---,00.html
 - Massachusetts <https://www.mass.gov/files/documents/2016/08/vu/mtss-blueprint.pdf>
 - Florida <http://www.florida-rti.org/floridaMTSS/mtf.htm>
 - Kansas <https://ksdetasn.org/mtss>