

Increasing Assessment Literacy: A Springboard for New Mexico Educators

Two Part Series

Targeted Audience: Teachers, Instructional Specialists, Academic Coaches

To get the most from this webinar, teachers should plan to attend both part A and part B of this Webinar Session.

Cognia in partnership with the New Mexico Public Education Department will conduct a webinar series aimed at supporting educators in understanding the assessment components of the New Mexico Balanced Assessment System. There will also be a focus on how to leverage assessments in the classroom to support high-quality instructional practices.

This session is designed to facilitate participants' engagement in conversations that will support their understanding of the NM Balanced Assessment System (BAS) and how it supports instructional practices.

Part A:

Recognize the components of a Balanced Assessment System based on multiple measures that connect teaching and learning

- Defining the different components of the BAS
- Defining the role of the BAS for addressing student learning needs

Part B:

Review the role of assessment in an effective learning environment

- Connections to the TLA Framework
- Relationship between assessment, curriculum and instruction

Explore methods of integrating assessment into instructional practice

- The role of teacher-created assessments as formative tools
- The role of student responses and feedback loops
